Those who have lived and learned at Tufts know it to be more than a set of buildings or a name on an academic register; for them, Tufts is an experience. This experience was many things. It was a search—a search for wisdom of past and present generations—a search which took place in Braker and Barnum and Bray. It was an exploration shared with fellow students and with instructors in classrooms and labs and libraries. It was a search and yet it was far more basic than that. It was the experience of interpersonal relationships—roommates, classmates, fraternity

TUFTS UNIVERSITY . . .

brothers and co-eds. It was bull sessions and parties, good sport and the sense of team play. It was the experience of listening and asking and answering, of looking through and beyond ourselves, of seeing what we expected to see and of sometimes learning more than we wanted to learn. It was disillusioning and frightening but it was more often filled with a sense of pride and worldliness.

This experience which was Tufts now provides many memories—memories of the campus on a snowy winter night and on a sunny spring day, of trenches and dumpsters, of parking tickets and IBM machines, of our first registration and our last examination, of a football game with a prep school in a city called Cambridge and of a black Saturday in Pennsylvania.

Most vivid will be the memory of those who shared Tufts with us; the characters and friends and Professors.

For each of us of the Class of 1960 four years at Tufts have passed swiftly; it has been a time devoted to the accumulation of knowledge; but there has been far more to our experience than that which can be measured by an academic average.

Learning and living together in a setting which was at once intellectual and social has inalterably injected our future with a common and meaningful nostalgia:

Tufts University.

DEDICATION

Dr. Nils Yngve Wessell is completing his twenty-first year of service to the Tufts community. He came to Tufts in 1939 from Ann Arbor where he was director of the Mobile Child Guidance Clinic at the University of Michigan. He served as Dean of the School of Liberal Arts until 1953, and as Vice-President from 1951 to 1953. In that year, he was elected by the Trustees as the eighth President of Tufts College.

The life of a college president is not an easy one. As a public figure, he is sought on all sides for advice and guidance in every branch of education. He must preside at faculty meetings, commencements, cornerstone layings, and committee meetings, as well as act as speech-maker for an infinite number of organizations. And most importantly, he must manage a multi-million dollar college with money that must be continuously accumulated.

When he became president, Dr. Wessell immediately assumed the administration and coordination for the college's expansive plans. When Tufts officially changed from a college to a university in 1955, Dr. Wessell became the first President of Tufts University. Tufts has grown during his seven years as president, and he has grown with the University. In his civic contributions, Dr. Wessell has shown the same administering ability, but never has he let it interfere with his desire to see Tufts grow.

In 1940, the Jumbo Book was dedicated to him as a promising young administrator. The Jumbo Book of 1954 was inscribed in his honor when he became the President of Tufts, and it centered in him the hopes of Tufts' future. In his seventh year as president, Dr. Wessell has shown that his promise has developed into an actuality. It is now time that we acknowledge his transition from a young administrator into a proven and experienced educator. To Dr. Wessell, and to his past and future work in building a better Tufts University, this 1960 Jumbo Book is respectfully dedicated.

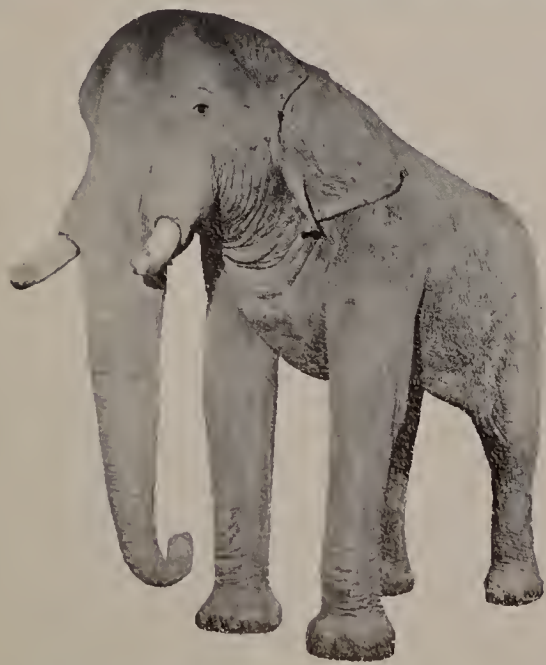

*The best definition of a university that I have been able to think of is a center of independent thought.
Education necessarily involves the critical examination of conflicting points of view; it cannot flourish in the absence of free inquiry and discussion.*

—Robert M. Hutchins

IN MEMORIAM

Katherine R. Jeffers (1907-1959), was the Dean of Jackson College for seven years. She brought to the office fine administrative abilities as well as a deep understanding of human nature. She fulfilled her obligations as dean with strength and vigor, but she brought something, and gave something more important, and yet less tangible, to the College and University, than her office demanded.

Dean Jeffers taught two courses in the Biology Department. As a member of Phi Beta Kappa (Alpha of Missouri), and Sigma Xi, she brought to her students extraordinary intellectual ability, and she gave something more valuable than cold fact. They will not readily forget the lesson she taught.

As Dean, she brought a never-ending belief in the abilities of Jackson Women, and the College owes no small debt to her for its reputation and success. She realized that the success of the college depended on the individuals in it, and attempted to develop the intellectual growth, and just as important, the personal growth and maturity of the students. These two elements were, to her, inseparable.

Dean Jeffers was never one to glorify her own successes. The things she accomplished for Jackson never received special consideration for her. They were as much a part of her as her own personality, and she would be contented with the knowledge that they helped Jackson to grow. The school will not forget her personal integrity and devotion to her office. Nor will it forget the standards she kept in order to help build Jackson to what it is today, and what it will be in the future.

AIR SCIENCE

The Department of Air Science has a two-fold mission . . . J.O. to Captain Pride, bailing out, sir . . . "You are cordially invited to 72 College Avenue" . . . Captain Clark, what is the most important job in the Air Force? . . . the difficulty ratio was ——— indicating that this was a fair question . . . who is Boris Ditts . . . but Captain Grauer, I have classes then . . . think it over before you decide . . . wipe that smile off your face . . . about that drill team competition.

BIOLOGY

The Biology Department is mainly concerned with the preparation of students for dental and medical schools. These students devoted to the memorizing of biological names will long remember the "lycopersicum esculentum" in Dr. Warren's botany class, the cookies and ice cream during Dr. Carpenter's final, the "phylogeny recapitulates ontogeny" in Dr. Sames' "Cat" course, Dr. Roeder's pipe, Drs. Warren's and Sweet's plants, Dr. Warren's "gut of the week" that brought A's and B's to C's and D's, Dr. Sames' jokes, cats slung over the shoulders of biology students on the way to "Cat" lab., and the smell of formaldehyde reeking from the walls of Barnum.

DRAMA AND SPEECH

The Drama and Speech Department is most noted for its Speech 7 course with Miss Elder and her pronunciation, and Speech 5 course and those speeches. The chief aim of the department is to cultivate an understanding and appreciation of the whole field of drama. Professor Balch aided by members of the department accomplish this in small classes. The many plays put on were time consuming, but fun at the same time.

CHEMICAL ENGINEERING

Lodged in Pearson Laboratory lay the offices and laboratories of the Chemical Engineering Department. The class ranks were thinned, but not daunted, by the barrage of distillation columns, grinding machines, and filter presses. We survived the "nonsense" of Professor Attalah on our lab reports. We were in the right ball park for Thermo, but Professor Van Wormer just wanted a number to hang our hats on. We delighted in Dr. Smith punctuating his lectures on the soap industry with the snapping of his "Zippo." The entire dozen of the class of '60 will look back affectionately at the trials of the hardest course on the hill.

CHEMISTRY

Since 1956, when Dr. Wilson was appointed chairman of the Chemistry Department, there have been many changes in the curriculum and in the appearance of the Chemistry building. But more apt to be remembered by the class of 1960 are Dr. Stolow and stereoisomerism and  $\pi$  orbitals; Dr. Littlefield and his perpetual smile; Dr. Messer and his cough; Dr. Doleman and his sports; and lastly Dr. Eddy and his penetrating gaze. We'll all look back on these courses as frustrating at times but an education in themselves.

CIVIL ENGINEERING

When surveying the engineering "acres" from the War Memorial Steps, one cannot miss the rustic Civil Engineering building. Here students are prepared for the general practice of Civil Engineering including structures, transportation, and hydraulics.

Words of indeterminate encouragement are doled out by Professor Littleton to the seniors. Mr. Carbone, back from the Army, fires lectures at a machine gun pace. Fundamentals are taught by the elder statesman of the department, Professor Rice. Surveying by Professor Savage covered many tricks of the trade—Richardson House? In the dark cellar you'll find Professor Dunkerly amongst the concrete and asphalt paraphernalia. Next door, Professor Baldwin floats around in the hydraulics laboratory. The class of '60 will be long remembered for its enthusiasm toward Civil Engineering and avoidance of the Kursaal.

ECONOMICS

Economics courses are designed to develop an understanding of economic systems and an ability to analyze important economic problems of today and to equip the student with techniques of analysis which will be of value to him in life's work and enable him to give intelligent consideration to questions of public policy. To attain this we find Professors Gray, Cornwall and Ernst arguing wittily with the music of pure competition playing over the stereo in the background. Dr. Manly is attempting to moderate the excited debate while Professors Smith and Bridgman smile on the trio benignly. Dr. Gray is defining his terms, Professor Cornwall is phrasing the question for the linear programme and Dr. Ernst has the computing machines clacking away. Final answers are soon approximated.

CLASSICS

The Department of Classics gives the student a picture of the arduous labors which led to produce the things we enjoy and an opportunity to know directly the books and personalities that mark the steps of tradition. This is generally taken up in Classics 31 and 32 which are the most popular, since they can be used for a literature requirement. The characteristics of Zeus and Agamemnon, and Plato's perfect city are not easily forgotten. Other courses delve deeper into ancient culture to clearly define its pervasive relation to our own way of life.

ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING

The wing of Cousens Gymnasium closest to the railroad tracks houses the offices and oscilloscopes of the Electrical Engineering Department. Here are presented the complexities of the motion of the electron. The members of the department are thoroughly familiar with these and are further challenged by the problem of communicating them to a group of students eager to reap the "rewards" concurrent with a firm grasp of electrical engineering principles. Though many students count frustration, frequent exams, and lack of sleep among these "rewards," their mentors maintain that satisfaction and mental alertness are inevitable and desirable by-products of the study of a subject which outwardly appears cold, complex and ominous.

EDUCATION

North Hall, the nearly unnoticed building clinging to the hill, is the center of continual self-inspection, with stress on self-relationship of experience with theory and a concern for the interest of the child coupled with intense teacher motivation to explore—this is the credo of the prospective educator molded by the entire Education Department in a unity of unselfish interest.

Who can forget Professor Marshall's exuberance over the ladder system of England; Mrs. Wellington's "student-centered" discussion class in counseling and guidance; Mr. Wellington's guidance in placement and tranquilizing in the face of prospective interviews; Professor King's vests; and Professor Laskey's references to his family? The paternalism so indicative of the entire department will be long remembered.

FINE ARTS

The Fine Arts Department on campus is composed of Russell Smith, head of the department and of the Museum School and Charles Price. Mr. Smith teaches F.A. 3 and 121, while Mr. Price teaches F.A. 1, 2, 110 and 152.

No fine arts student will forget Mr. Smith's casual, offbeat presentation of his material. Similarly who will forget his F.A. 3 course with the exciting Aztec and Mayan art and his two-hour length hour exam.

Mr. Price's presentation, although also casual, has smoother presentation. Few students who have taken a course with him or who have talked to him can miss his dry humor and hopeful outlook on modern painting.

On the whole the courses have considerable depth and present an excellent picture of the growth of art from the Stone Age to the Twentieth Century.

ENGINEERING GRAPHICS

The department of Engineering Graphics is designed to teach the engineering student an appreciation for geometric shapes, an insight into design, the course of logical thought, and training in the powers of visualization. The courses are applied to almost all engineering courses for graphical solutions and representations. The department is headed by Professor Hill who is stern in his methods, firm in his beliefs yet humorous and understanding out of class. Professor Leighton, who is also known as freshman counselor, addresses the blackboard with many of his witty comments. Professor D'Amato seems to have a desire to teach psychology and the Navy is continually cutting in on Mr. Rule's lectures. Here then is the Engineering Graphics Department devoted to the teaching of "graphics."

ENGLISH

The core of the academic structure of a liberal arts college is its English Department. In Packard Hall we have voyaged through the sea of writings that make up the contribution of the English language to the world of Western thought.

In Freshman English we learned to think. We then scanned surveys of the course of writing through the centuries, and in later periods we were able to drink deep the Pierian spring as Dr. Myrick introduced us to the geniuses that were Shakespeare and Milton; the soaring verse of the Romantic dreamers was Dr. Blanchard's first love; Dr. Barnet built the foundation of English Drama and shared with us his friendship with Alexander Pope; with Dr. Kinne we surveyed the literature of our own country; John Holmes, the voice of Tufts, showed us that the onward course of living literature has not ceased and introduced writings from our own time. All these and more have led us to the realm of self-expression by treading through the paths of past self-expression.

GOVERNMENT

The Department of Government has experienced a period of growth during the past four years. New courses, new personnel and new facilities are all reflections of this change. Government majors will most likely remember the quiet, efficient manner of Dr. Robbins, those mysterious arrows of Dr. Lambie (don't you know?), the booming lectures of Professor Elliot and the fine home made cooking of Mrs. Sweet and Mrs. Burch. But the big question is "will the Government Department survive the return of John Dowling."

GEOLOGY

The Geology Department is another of the small groups of high quality so abundant on the Tufts campus. Under the vital leadership of Dr. Robert Nichols, the department has paved the way for many students into the ever-growing, ever-groping field of geology.

Dr. Nichols, clever and colorful, projects himself so completely into his work that no one who has been exposed to his influence could leave the Tufts campus unmarked by this man's dynamic character.

Standing behind Dr. Nichols are three equally competent and experienced instructors, each one outstanding in his own right. Dr. Hume has brought to the geology department a wealth of experience; and his precise, meticulous manner of presentation is always sparked by a gentle undertone of almost too subtle humor. Mrs. Marvin, a relative newcomer to the Tufts community, adds a quiet charm to an impressive background in the field. Finally, Dr. Stearns takes time from his pressing chores to lend a friendly casualness to the problems facing the geology students here at Tufts.

HISTORY

It all started with Ferguson and Bruun . . . Look at him sway back and forth . . . My pen just ran out of ink—oh no there goes 200 years . . . identify and tell the significance of . . . Parkman and his loden green blazer . . . thirty-seven errors, Prof. Miller, it must be my paper . . . What do you mean you read it in the book . . . Do you think we'll be responsible for those blackboard doodles on the exam . . . Hoar charging into battle . . . Footnotes at the bottom of the page? . . . Do you know a good typist . . . Two reserved books for 150 people in the class . . . "Tomorrow in our lecture we'll cover the 20th century" . . . Four years of college and I haven't been outside of Braker yet.

MATHEMATICS

While Professor Clarkson was on sabbatical leave, the Mathematics Department, headed by acting chairman Professor Fulton, welcomed Dr. Whitehead, Mr. Aizley, Mr. Draisin, Mr. Tso, and Mr. Dudman.

Courses in mathematics are intended both for those who are interested in its application to other sciences, and for those who are studying it for its own sake. Emphasis is given to the ways in which mathematics provides the simplest keys to principles and procedures common to various sciences.

Almost all will remember the highly theoretical Mathematics I and II, and the engineers will recall attempts to find a formula in which to place given numbers and units. And then there were the majors forever trying to grasp the principles and procedures which were always just out of reach.

GERMAN

The German Department headed by Professor Provine has taught us to read German for enjoyment and scientific study; to speak it; and to understand its literature. Professor Newton will be remembered for his second semester German Literature course, Mrs. Halm for her quizzes, Dr. Kovach for her European accent, Professor Wells for his clever wit, Professor Myrvaagnes for "don't let me change the subject," Professor Provine for those finals.

NAVAL SCIENCE

"Raise your right hand and repeat after me" . . . this was an end and a beginning . . . is a Captain the same as a Major? . . . Why will the Red Sox win the pennant? . . . Discuss the rise and fall of Hitler in ten minutes . . . "Send me to sea on a cruiser" . . . target angles, angles of parallax . . . don't get stuck in section C, they take the exams first . . . watch out for the eraser . . . "I've had pretty good duty so far but" . . . I missed my physical? . . . parallel rules slipped again! . . . Did Holy Cross really lose to B.C.? . . . question 4: who will win the Army-Navy Game? . . . Is there a syllabus in this course? . . . attention on deck! . . . Mr. H. is with us today!

MECHANICAL ENGINEERING

The Mechanical Engineering Department is currently undergoing a change in basic educational policies. The emphasis during the past year has been on theory rather than the practical aspects of mechanical engineering. New courses and a laboratory program centered around information theory will be added to the departmental program with the new engineering curriculum.

Professor Trefethen and his trusty band of instructors are housed in the Bray Laboratory, a building of impressive size and equally impressive lack of ventilation. Perhaps for this reason, and perhaps for others, members of the department can often be found at the Kursaal.

PHILOSOPHY

The Philosophy Department is small with an active teaching staff of three men whose personalities and methods of teaching differ. Professor Burch, the chairman, is quiet and thorough. His interest in the religious philosophies of the East and West, his quietly-spoken jokes, and his nervous play with a gold pocket watch give the impression of an introspective and somewhat reticent person. Professor Laskey of Ethics 6 speaks about "schedules" and logical positivism, applies the word "exciting" to most philosophers, and refers to so many books that it would seem he never stops reading. Professor Sayre teaches more by impulse than by book and because of his often weird examples and excited discussions his classes are usually very lively.

The combination of these men with their differing characters and interests creates a philosophy department as notable for its depth as for its scholarship.

MUSIC

The Music Department's purpose is to cultivate a general interest in music and to develop taste among the undergraduates of all schools. Professors King and MacKillop and Mr. Abbott accomplish this and other feats with humor, understanding, and friendliness, a trait indicative of the department as a whole. The members of the department are best known for their associations with the band, orchestra, chorus and Odikon Society.

The department is associated with other departments on campus for students who wish to teach.

MODERN LANGUAGES

The Modern Languages Department under the chairmanship of Dr. Simches has made changes in order to carry out its aim of intensifying the use of the spoken language. Changes include a language laboratory requirement for first and second year courses and the teaching of literature in the courses. French and Russian tables at the Carmichael evening meal have been instituted, and Davies House has become La Maison Francaise. Even with these changes the members of the department have changed only in number. Dr. Simches continues his strutting up and down in front of the class; Mlle. Singer still has her wardrobe; Dr. Shapira goes on wearing his suspenders; Mr. Aisa continues to speak only Spanish; Mr. Bird is still cheerful; and Mme. Balch, Professor Gifford and Signora Whittredge go on with their wit.

RELIGION

The Department of Religion tends to be a service department seeking to broaden a student's program of study rather than appeal as a field of concentration. The courses center in the various aspects of religion rather than in specific religious faiths. They are designed to aid the student in understanding the meaning and pertinence of religion for man in his various cultures and in the growth of civilization.

Dr. Ashton, head of the department, is better known as chaplain of the college. His humor and understanding ways, along with Dr. Miller's quiet competence, give the department a casualness and friendly air found nowhere else.

SOCIOLOGY

On the second floor of Taberna can be found a number of book-laden offices and rooms of file cabinets and computers. Here five busy faculty members, our teachers, advisors and friends, constitute the Sociology Department of Tufts. In any of their offices or in the larger seminar room, members of the department meet with students, individually or in groups, creating the friendly, professional atmosphere so conducive to effective student-faculty relations. The beliefs and interests in the pursuits of social science of the department as a whole constitute a nucleus within which students find challenging and rewarding academic participation. The specialized interests of individual department members provide opportunities for advanced students to share in stimulating topics as researchers and assistants while their work points to rewarding futures in the field of sociology.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The main object of the Physical Education Department is to promote the health and physical efficiency of the students. This is not easily done since the students spend more time in Professor Ellis' office trying to "cut" than they do in the gym. Many a disgusted expression has been observed on the faces of the instructors as they attempt to instruct the students in coordination. Perhaps it is because of this that the debtor of many dollars often finds a congregation of instructors in Professor Ellis' office with large grins.

The secondary object of the Physical Education Department is to coach the various sports. It is in this capacity that the department members find their rewards. These are the ever-loving and lovable builders of athletes.

PHYSICS

The Physics Department caters primarily to majors in other fields. Pre-meds and pre-dents will remember Physics 1-2 with Professor Knipp as a theoretical impossibility and a practical waste. Engineers will remember Physics 21-22-23 as a game of which formula to match with which numbers. All physics students will recall Knipp crossing the center of the blackboard, Cormack's distinguished accent, Stearns blowing the trombone, Tessman's sarcasm, Hendrickson's grin, Combes' "pinch," Mrs. McCarthy's understanding smile and Mrs. Daniels' help in obtaining first-hand information.

PSYCHOLOGY

The Psychology Department, offering courses to undergraduates and graduate students, is the only one this year at Tufts to have Title Four Fellows, of which there are three. Dr. Dorothea Crook heads this active department which has facilities in North Hall, the Psychology Annex and Bolles House.

Open colloquia are held every two weeks in North Hall with speakers who are outstanding in their fields. Besides outside social events, the department has several informal gatherings each day called "coffee-breaks" which are meetings for research members, staff, graduates and undergraduates where topics range from research findings and journal articles to everyday problems. The psychology department is always actively progressing in the field with new research, and gives an opportunity to everyone from undergraduate to researcher to gain from each other's experience and knowledge.

What another would have done as well as you, do not do it. What another would have said as well as you, do not say it. Be faithful to that which exists nowhere but in yourself—and thus make yourself indispensable.

FRESHMAN YEAR

A time of new friendships, absorbing Tuftonian ways, becoming independent and intellectually curious. Orientation Week with placement tests, mixer, conferences, bull sessions, Pretzel Night, shopping for room fixtures, and meeting "Nasty Nick" ends too soon. Upperclassmen return, lectures, labs, themes and trips to the library absorb our interest. Carrying flash cards, we watch Tufts beat Harvard one glorious football weekend. Freshmen Assemblies, Homecoming with Trinity, rush week with meals, smokers, parties and girls galore, Christmas Sing, Freshman elections, and a Spring Fling of kleenex flowers, picket fences, and music unite the class.

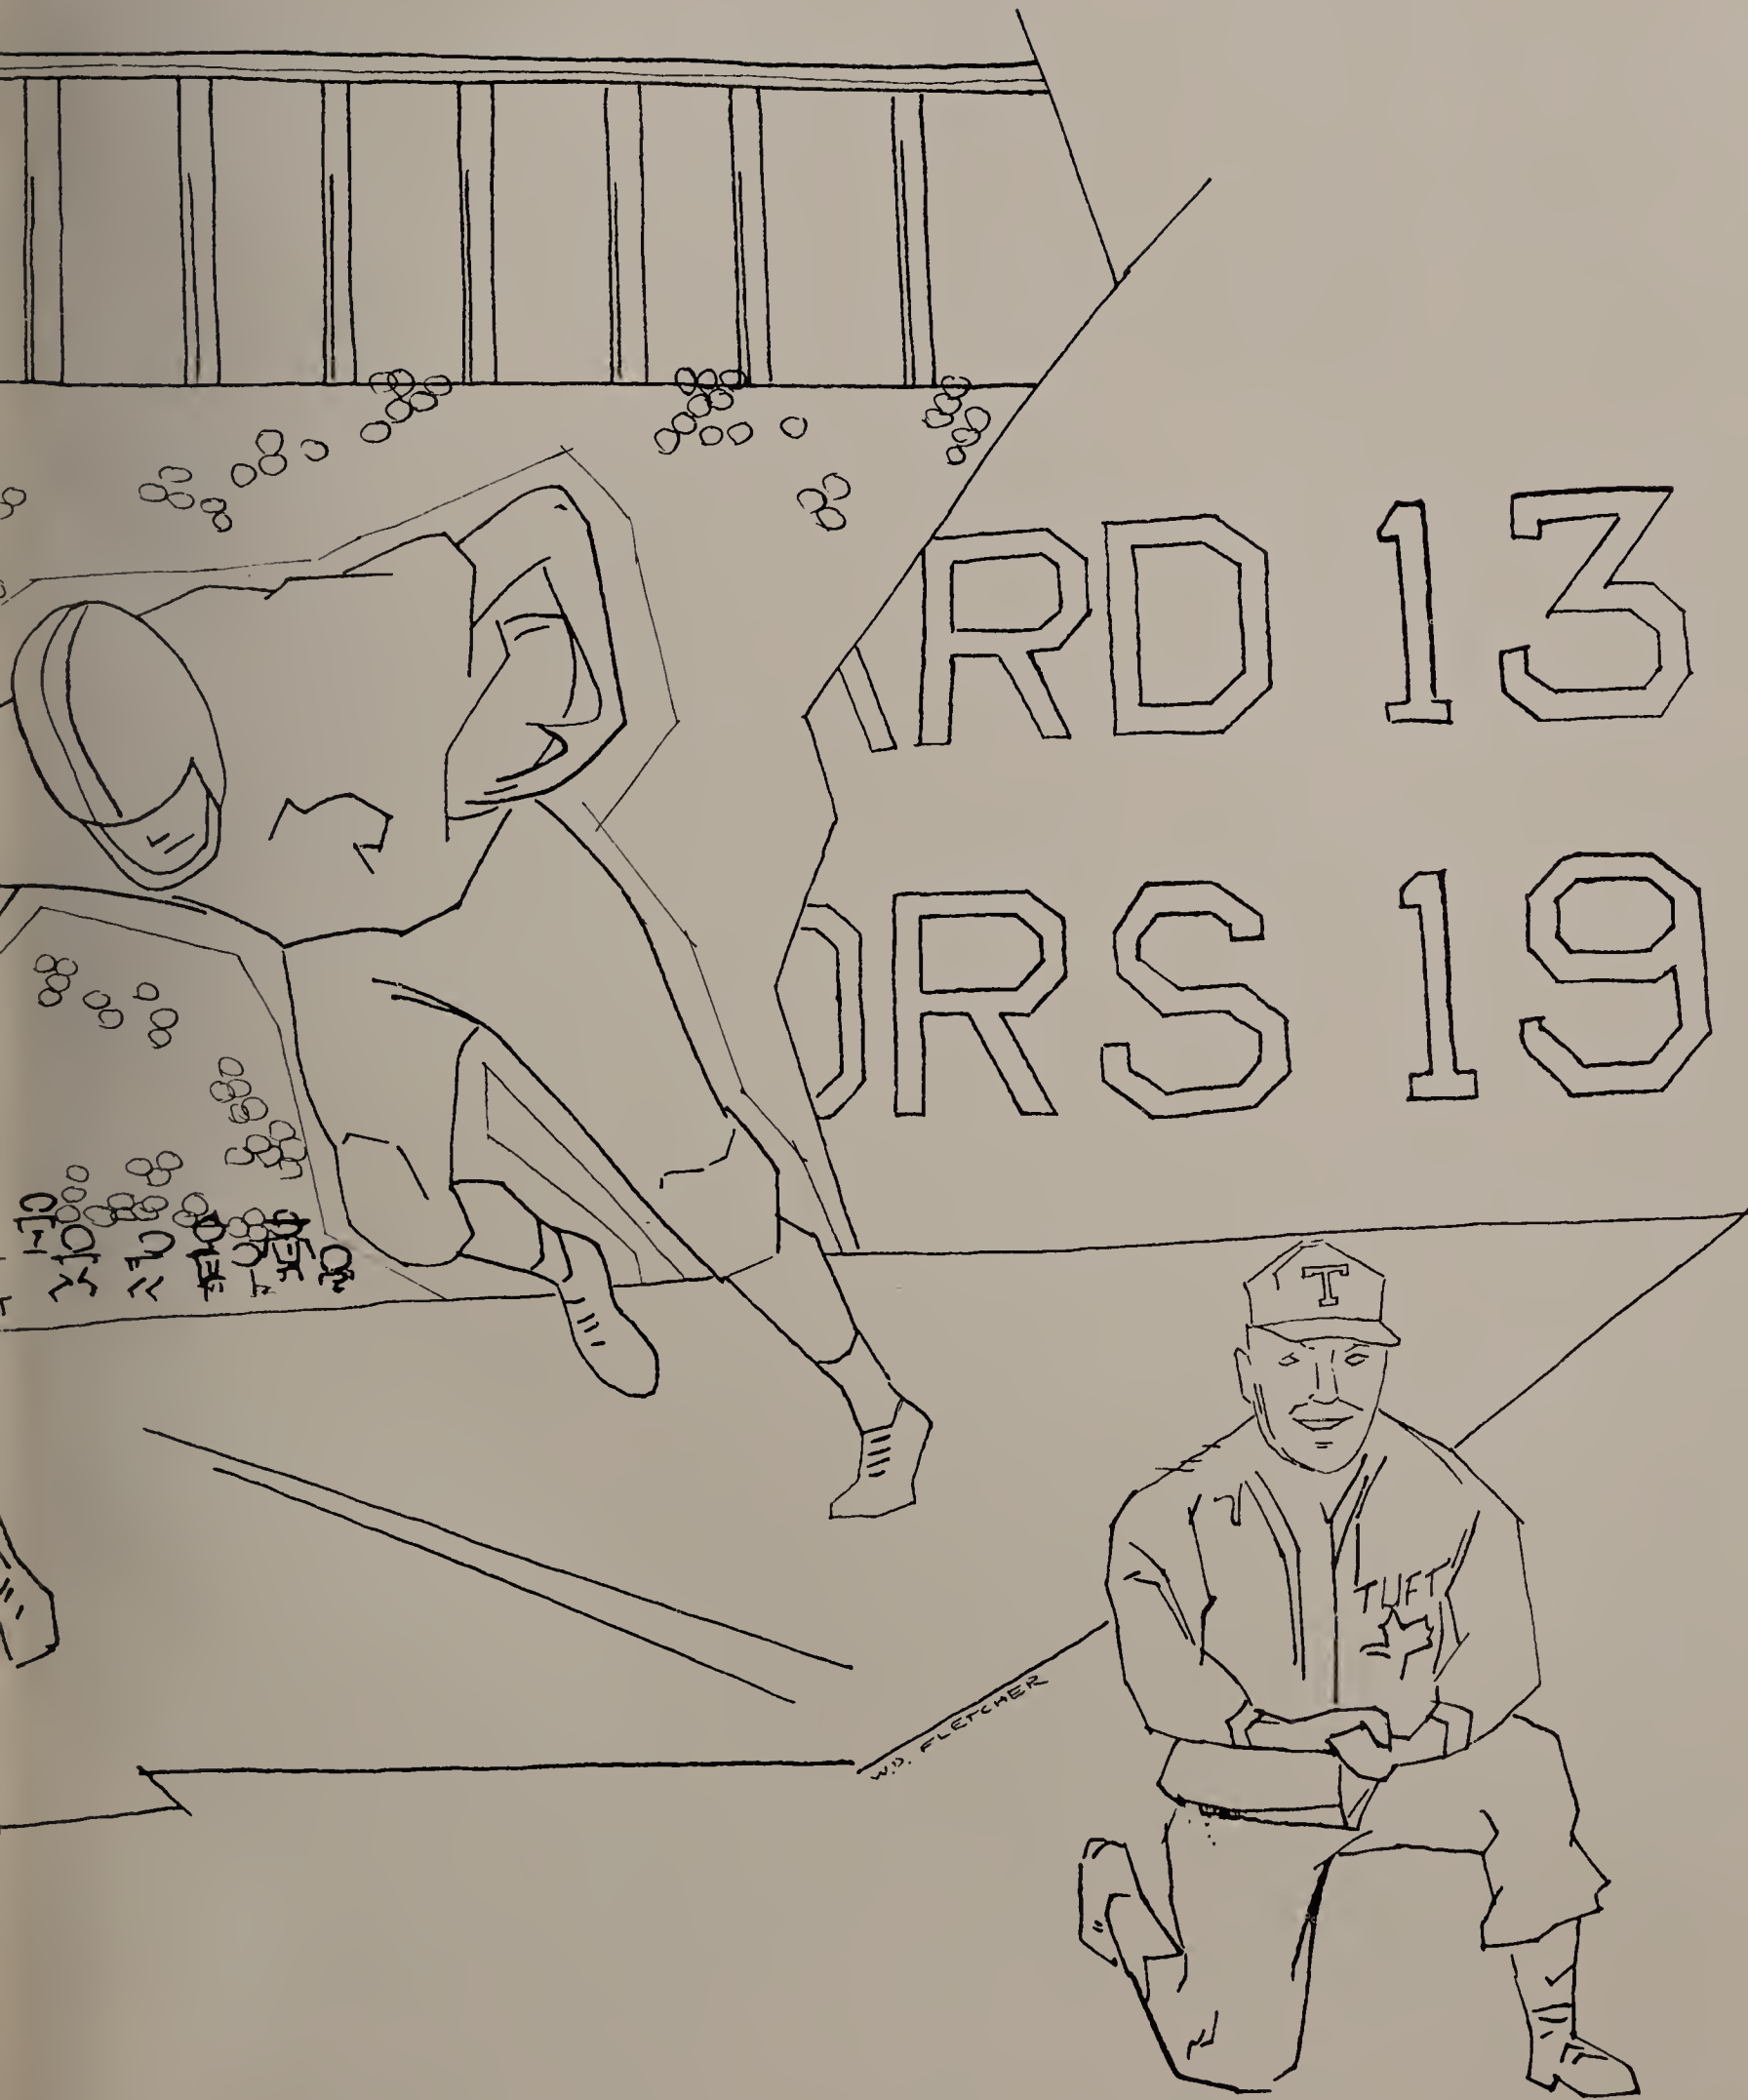

The campus receives many well known guests—Robert Frost, Chinese Ambassador Dr. Tong, Arthur Fiedler, Herb Pomeroy, Vaughn Monroe, and Les Elgart. The University Lecture Series, Student Union Fund Drive, Student View of Courses, "Hullaballou", Odikon, "Old Ironsides" cannon, pre-chapel coffee, Catholic Mass in Cohen, a Tufts Reading List, Thalia, and Phi Sigma Kappa also made their debut.

A snowless Winter Carnival, a rousing Mayoralty battle between John Jacob Jingleheimer Schmidt and Sultan Sinbad with poster parties and skits; coffee, bridge, and ping pong at the Kursaal, Monday evening brothers meetings and sorority, friendly Hy's, book store jams at the start of second semester, a rash of Shetlands, circle pins, raccoon coats, bright tights, khakis brown and blue ties, pizza at the "V", movies at Cohen, "No-Doz" before exams, worn paths across campus, busy carrels at exam time, and the chapel bells announcing each day, ending class, ringing out victory and chiming as we rush to 1:40 classes become part of our life. We finally know what the M.T.A. is, that 3 P's is not a subversive spy ring but a glimpse of real theatre, and we don't mistake Braker for Miner any longer.

SOPHOMORE YEAR

Montreal to Boston train crashes in fog... the infirmary overflows during Asian flu epidemic... Hollywood films Home Before Dark scene at Ballou... maintenance strikes... students relieve Boston Blood Bank... Weekly exposes "Guts"... tuition hits $1100... Diamond Mike and Huck Finn during last mayoralty campaign promote Mississippi mood... Student Council investigates Film Society... Tufts panty raid and Jackson early morning retaliation... sophomore banquet with Al Capp.

This was our year to haze the freshmen, paddling them off the grass, checking beanies and Bavarian dress. Brad Kent plays for our Sword and Shield Traditions Dance... Tufts elects Mr. Tredinnick Vice-President and appoints Mrs. Abbott Director of Jackson Admissions... smoke stack is added to the horizon... Theta Chi becomes eleventh national fraternity on Hill... charter members of Chironian society are installed... Bray Lab receives giant brain computer... Dempster Dumpster monsters sweep campus clean... Student Council establishes Organizations Committee... chorus records Tufts songs... first Pops Night at Tufts... Parachute Club attracts jumpers... fraternity scholastic standards rise... Society of Scholars and Leonard Carmichael Society instituted.

We relaxed with the Glenn Miller Band, "Satchmo," and ballad singers, Seraphim and Cherubim. Dean Acheson, Dr. Kirk, Dr. Schlesinger, Robert Frost, Dr. Orne, Ken Patton, Etienne Decroux and Norman Thomas answer the student cry for more lectures. Carnegie Study is undertaken to evaluate Tufts. Sporting blazers and class rings we feel a real part of the Tufts Community.

SENIOR YEAR

We lead Tufts undergraduates with five new campus additions; Bush and Miller Halls, Dewick, the Commuter House, and an ivyless chapel. Construction for the Engineering School begins, and Jackson celebrates the fiftieth anniversary of its founding.

The Class takes an active stand on reviewing Mayoralty, the "Open Door Policy," campus traffic, second semester fraternity rushing, curriculum revision, library facilities, and the planning of lectures. We sell coupon books, attend a reception at President Wessell's home, and hold a mid-winter dance at the Hotel Fensgate. Classmates examine graduate school catalogues, student teach, write honors theses, and are interviewed for jobs.

Our $500. Homecoming Jumbo dies, rain blurs displays, spectators huddle under umbrellas to brave slippery 0-0 tie with Amherst . . . The Weekly prints off campus . . . 3 P's presents recent Broadway hit, "Rashomon" . . . John Ciardi, humorist, David McCord, Robert Frost, Dr. Deutsch, and San Francisco poets, MacClure, Whalen speak.

After passing our command to the Class of '61 we attend the formal Trustee Senior Dinner and Baccalaureate, sing Alma Mater at Tufts Night at Pops, cruise on the Boston Belle, pack lunches for a class picnic, in cap and gown hear the Class Day poem, oration, history, and gift presentation. Rounding out Senior Week are the Spread on the President's lawn and the Prom at the Sheraton Plaza. Four years at Tufts have left a deeper awareness of man's need to strive for what he feels is good, true, and beautiful. Graduation brings the joy of mastering a goal, the sadness for parting from friends and Tuftonian ways, and the hope that we can use this experience to help others.

SPORTS

Because many key men were lost to the team through graduation, experts in pre-season writings felt that this could be Coach Harry Arlanson's first losing year since coming to Tufts. The team, however, with spirited leadership by co-captains John Marshall and Bart Higgins, developed far beyond all expectations. Charlie Martin and Tommy Bond proved to be two fine ends capable of sturdy blocking for the backfield and awesome defense prowess. Guards Ray Zaleski, although small for his position, and Jack DiVincent, continually opened big holes in the opposing line. Co-captain John Marshall, because of his mobility as a center and speed as a line backer, developed into one of the finest centers in Harry Arlanson's tenure. The Jumbo wall was solidified by co-captain Bart Higgins, a regular for two years, Steve Moore, a powerful prospect, and ex-All American schoolboy Dave Thompson at the tackle positions. Quarterback Frank DeLeone, mixing plays between Murdock MacDonald, Bob McLucas, and Mark Lydon, continually kept the defense honest. Murdock MacDonald, by gaining over a thousand yards, became one of the finest backs in Tufts football history. Depth, invaluable to any team, was provided by Dick Levine, George Kinnaly, Peter Titus, and Francis McDonald who continually came through when the regulars needed a rest.

A reflection of the caliber of this versatile winning team, and a fitting climax to the season were provided with the naming of head coach Harry Arlanson as "New England Coach of the Year."

First Game

In the opening game of the season, Coach Harry Arlanson's 1959 edition defeated a very spirited and stubborn Bowdoin eleven 24-6. Murdock MacDonald, a sub the previous year, was too hot for Bowdoin to handle as he scored sixteen points. The other touchdown was scored by junior George Kinnaly and the extra points added on a pass from quarterback Frank DeLeone to Kinnaly. Led by co-captains John Marshall and Bart Higgins, Charlie Martin and Ray Zaleski, the Jumbos were continually diagnosing and stopping Bowdoin's running attempts, especially those of Bowdoin's heralded halfback Teddy Gardner. Charlie Martin's play was exceptional, and he was named to the Associated Press Small College All East team for that week. Much credit must go to quarterback Frank DeLeone for his astute play mixing, continually keeping the Bowdoin defense off guard; and to Coach Arlanson for his substitution policies, insuring a rested and alert team.

Second Game

A scrappy Bobcat team threatened before bowing to the capable Jumbo. Murdock MacDonald continued to dazzle as the outstanding ground-gainer for the Brown and Blue, but credit must be given for the fine performance of junior back Bob McLucas. The outstanding play of the game was a screen pass from Levine to MacDonald that netted twenty-seven from the Bates forty. Shortly thereafter MacDonald drove over from the nine. Pete Titus, replacing the injured Lydon, and fellow sophomore George Kinnaly provided the Jumbos with depth in the backfield. Although the determined Bates eleven crept to within two points of the Jumbos on the first series of plays of the second half, four touchdowns by McLucas, MacDonald (2), and DeLeone enabled the Tufts eleven to emerge victorious, 28-12. This, the second consecutive win of the new season, gave further promise that Coach Arlanson would once more have a successful season.

Third Game

Not since the memorable victory over the Harvard eleven in 1956 have Tufts fans witnessed a more exciting contest than this year's 14-8 victory over Trinity. In a game marked throughout by rugged defense, the stubborn Jumbos emerged triumphant though victory was uncertain until the very last second of play. Tied at half-time as a result of a pitchout to MacDonald who scored from the nine, the Jumbos went out in front midway throughout the last quarter. DeLeone took a Bantam punt on the Jumbo 40 and found effective blocking while moving down the sideline to the Trinity nine. Four plays later Mark Lydon crashed over from the one to set the Jumbos in front 14-8. In the closing minutes of play the Trinity quarterback threw to his halfback, and DeLeone was called for pass interference when he knocked the ball down on the Bantam 26. The next play found Trinity's fullback receiving a lateral on the right sideline and heading for pay dirt, until DeLeone made a shoestring tackle, stopping the Bantam bid. At the gun the Jumbos had just repulsed a Trinity plunge from the one.

Fourth Game

The Lehigh game is nominated as "The game Tufts fans would most like to forget." Playing their first game at Bethlehem, Pa., nothing seemed to go right for the hapless Jumbos. The game started with the Jumbo defense forcing the Engineers of Lehigh to kick. McLucas gave the Jumbos a first down as he burst to the 31 yard line. One down later quarterback DeLeone threw a short screen pass to MacDonald, but the chunky fullback never received the pass as a Lehigh end intercepted, and in so doing marked the trend of the ball game. From that point, anything unfortunate that could happen to a football team happened to the luckless Tufts eleven. There were fumbles and interceptions galore, and at the end of the sorry afternoon, the Jumbos lay on the short end of a humiliating 63-0 defeat. No single cause can be pointed out as the key to the game's outcome. Playing before a large Parents' Day crowd, the Engineers undoubtedly played far over their heads, and certainly our Jumbos far beneath their capacity. Better luck next year at the Oval.

McLucas, Higgins and friends.

Fifth Game

In weather that was to become typical of home games, the Jumbos slogged to a muddy 28-0 victory over Williams. The Ephmen fumbled seven times, and each time the alert Jumbos recovered. Once more the outstanding back of the game was Murdock MacDonald, running his season's total to 458 yards by gaining sixty-nine yards in eighteen attempts. The defensive play was marked by the brilliant work of sophomore tackle Dave Thompson, as the Williams eleven was held to a mere five first downs. Passing was necessarily held to a minimum. Of the passing attempted, Tufts was far more successful, completing six out of nine. The Ephmen were able to complete just three of eleven, Tufts intercepting one.

A beautiful day for a football game.

Slippery?

Sixth Game

Despite a steady rain, a loyal Homecoming crowd was on hand to witness a hard fought 0-0 tie with Tufts' traditional rival, Amherst. Bart Higgins played his finest game of the season and was awarded the game ball for his excellent defensive play. Also praiseworthy was the fine running of MacDonald and the defensive work of Marshall and Thompson. Tufts had its best scoring opportunity early in the third quarter as the ball was moved fifty-six yards to the Jeffs' 11 in nine plays before the attack was stalled. The outstanding play of the drive was a 24 yard pass from quarterback DeLeone to full-back MacDonald.

Make this good, Frank; it's on film.

It takes more than one.

Seventh Game

A cocky Rochester eleven had its undefeated record snapped by a spirited Jumbo, as the Tuftsmen fought out an impressive 20-0 victory. Thus was marked the third consecutive week that the Jumbo defense held its opponent scoreless. Fullback MacDonald once more had an excellent day, rushing for 209 yards, catching five Frank DeLeone passes for 39 more, and scoring ten points. In a game played in icy rain, the powerful Jumbo line broke down the Yellowjackets' resistance, relentlessly opening large holes for the Jumbo backs to crash through. It was clear that the Jumbos were unawed by the Rochester statistics which indicated a fifteen-game winning skein and an allowance of only six opposing touchdowns in two years.

A familiar sight.

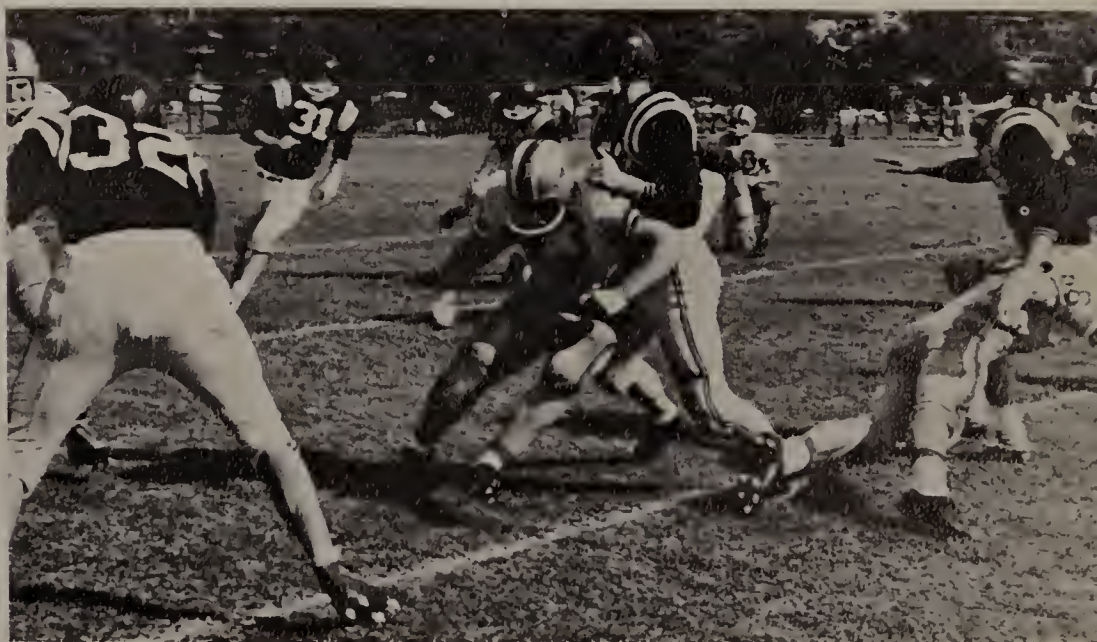

The unsung hero.

Eighth Game

The final game of the season saw the Jumbos outrushing the Leopards 332 yards to 182, but fumbling four times and ultimately succumbing by a 13-0 score. Fullback Murdock MacDonald shone as he rushed for 209 yards, bringing his season's total to an official 986 yards, to eclipse the statistics of the most recent Tufts greats. The outstanding play of the game occurred during the first quarter with the score 7-0. The Jumbo line broke fullback MacDonald loose for a sixty-seven yard gain to the Lafayette 14. This contest ended the season, giving the Jumbos a 5-2-1 season record.

Co-Captain Jack Duncan.

SOCCKER

Hard luck and injuries to co-captains John McClintock and Jack Duncan turned a potentially winning season into a record of three wins and six losses. Goalie McClintock was lost to the team for four games and Duncan was hobbled with injuries during the first half of the season. The three victories were decisive victories over WPI, University of Massachusetts, and Clark. Three heartbreaking games were lost by a margin of less than two goals. The Jumbos lost to Trinity 4-1, after trailing by only one goal going into the last period.

Only the co-captains Duncan and McClintock are lost from the starting lineup. Returning are Bernie Shavitz, captain-elect, Al Cappelletti, this year's most valuable player, and Hadi Ali, a sophomore who was the leading scorer. With this hard and able core, Coach Bohn expects to build a winning team and a winning season next year.

Co-Captain John McClintock

CROSS COUNTRY

Although lacking in depth, the varsity Cross Country team under the coaching of "Ding" Dussault defeated Boston University, Brandeis, and WPI. Boston College, Brown, MIT, Northeastern, Springfield, and Williams accounted for the team's losses.

Throughout the season, Captain Dave Moore and sophomore Roger Hart led the squad; and for 1960, Hart has been elected captain.

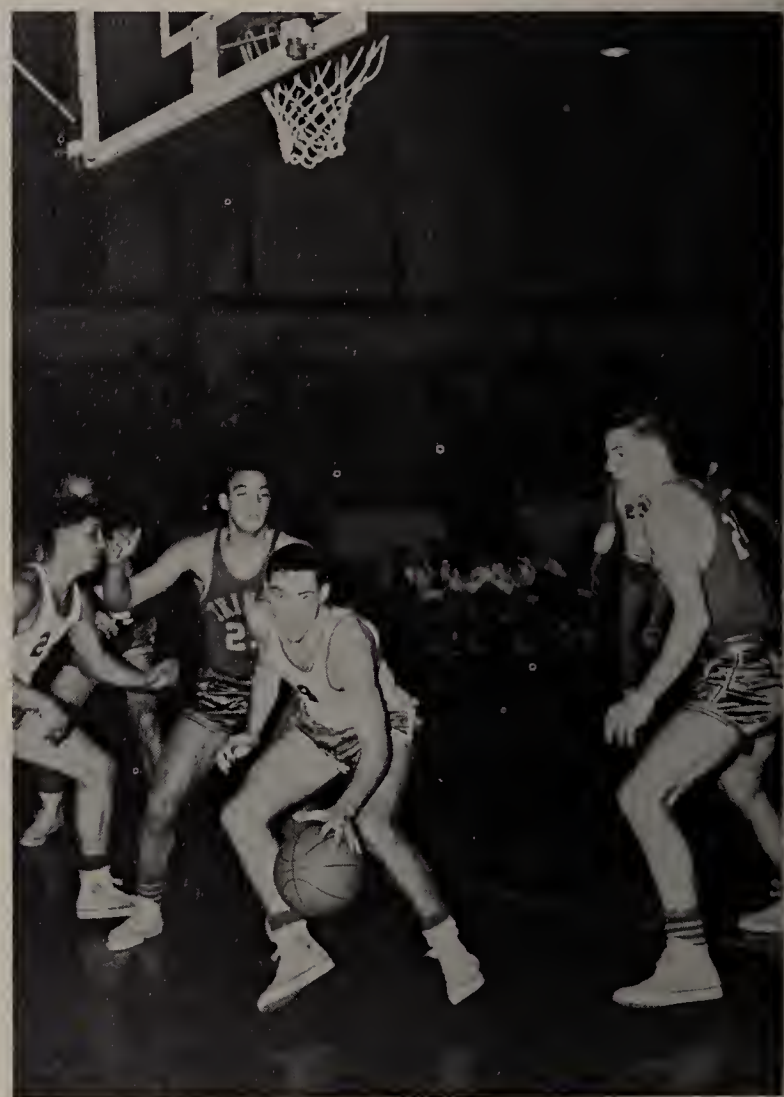

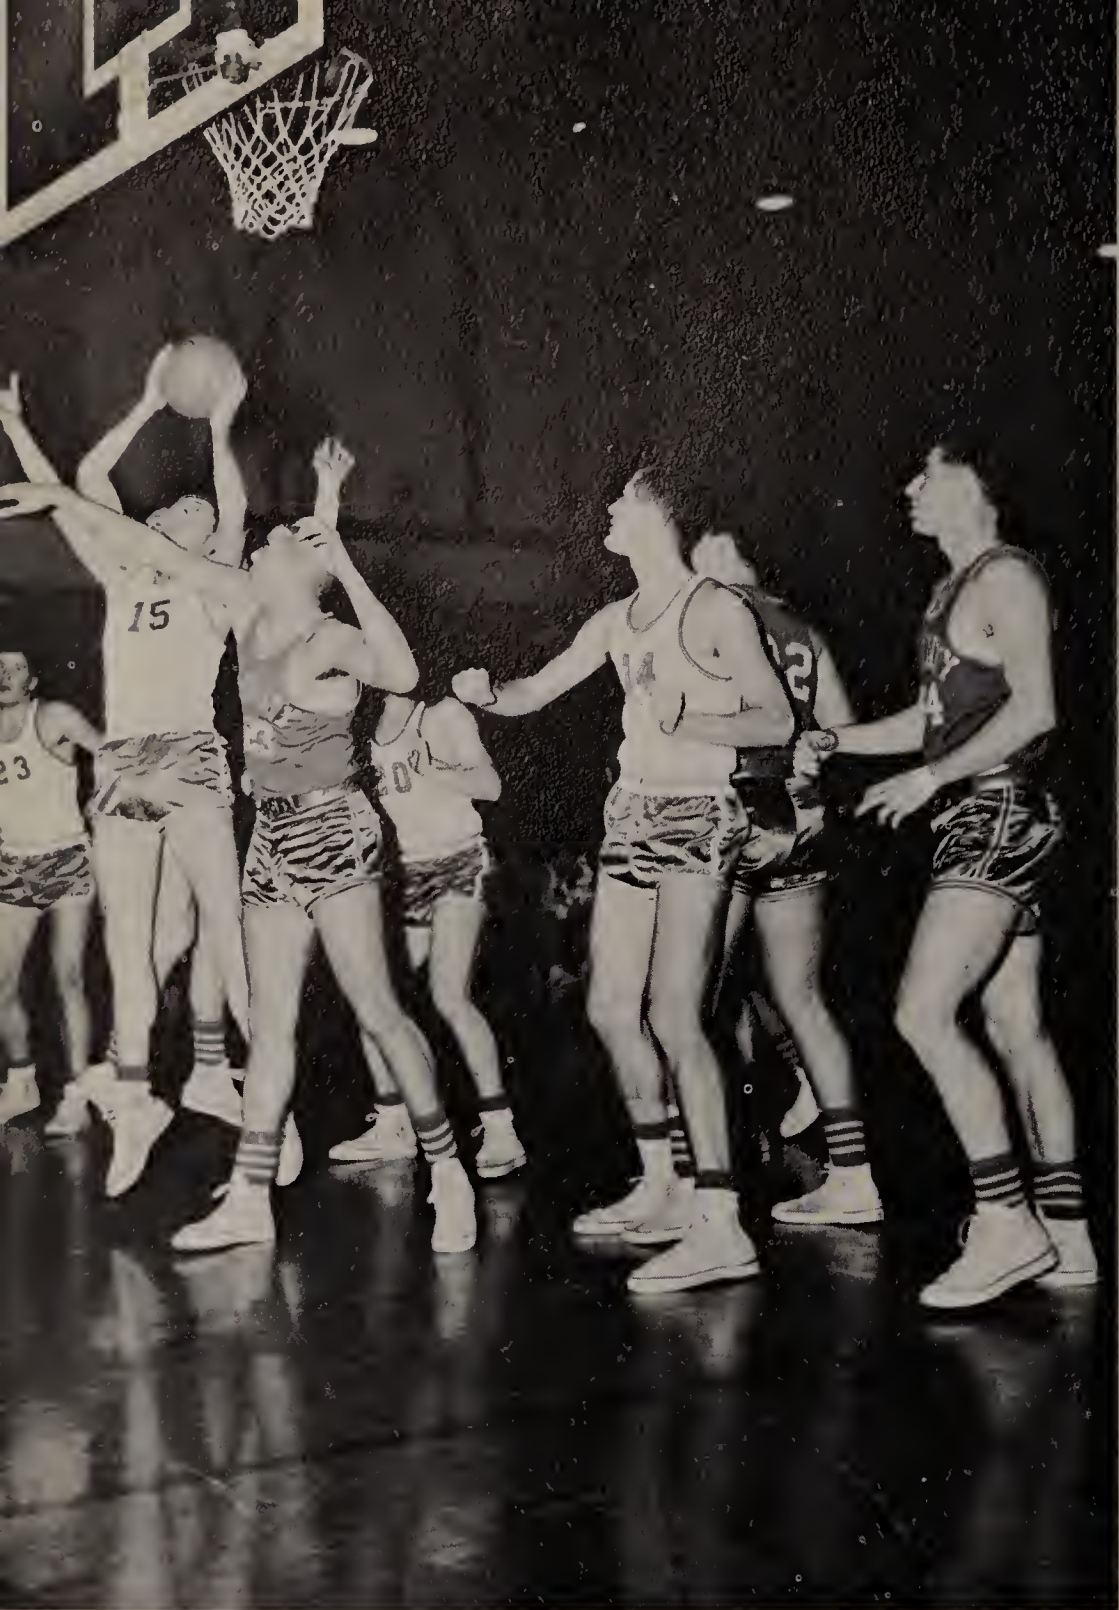

With a good number of middle-distance freshmen active in track, next year's prospects for a larger team look good. Returning veterans Steve Brayton, Hart, and Carl Sikes will add depth.

Coach "Ding" Dussault and Captain David Moore.

BASKETBALL

In the team's first victory this year, the Tufts varsity clung to a two point lead in the closing minutes of the game to edge Middlebury College 67-65. With Tufts back court duo of Roy Haythorn and Jack O'Leary scoring fifteen and twenty-five points respectively, the team displayed fine ball handling.

The leading scorers for the team were: Pete Dodge, Buddy McGrath, Tom Bond, Hank Ide, Haythorn and O'Leary.

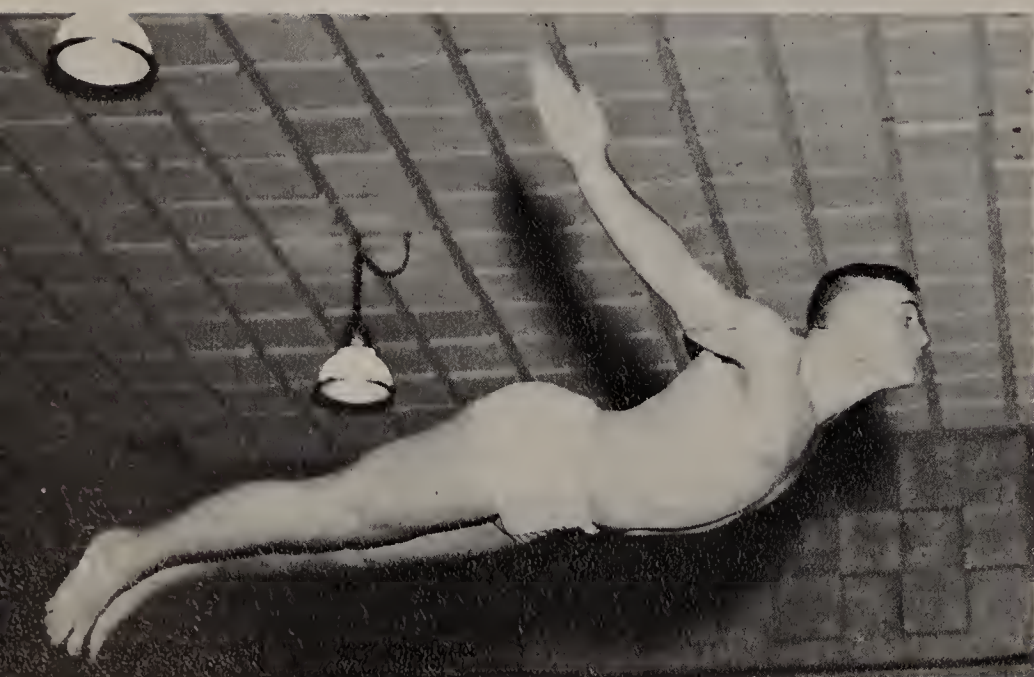

With only Bond and Ide graduating, the returning squad, augmented by the undefeated freshman five, should give Coach Grimshaw a bright future.

Larry Clinton.

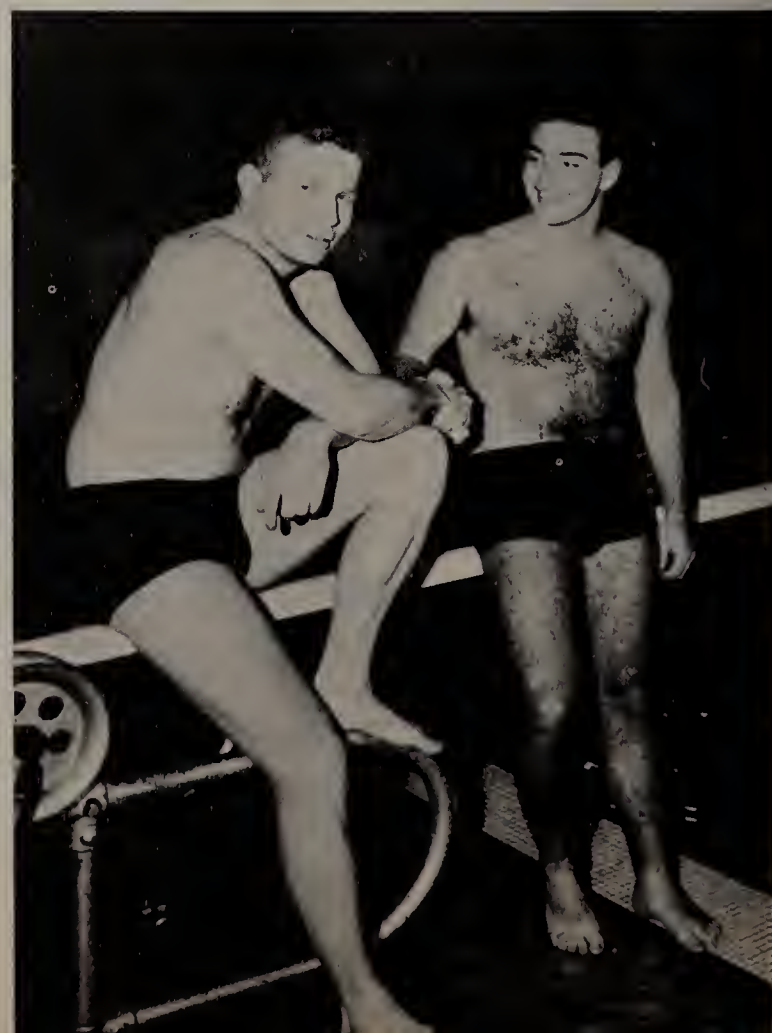

Co-captain Hal Hoyle.

SWIMMING

The team this year is led by co-captains John Birnbaum and Hal Hoyle. Birnbaum, the leading butterfly swimmer for the last three years, and Hoyle, a constant winner in the breaststroke, have scored the most individual points for the team. Other veterans include Jim Armour and Hugh McGill in the 50 and 100 yard freestyle, Bill Gordon in the distances and Fred Nichols in the backstroke.

Co-captains Hoyle and Birnbaum.

INDOOR TRACK

Senior Jack Elstead.

Coach "Ding" Dussault's 1960 indoor track team had many able men, but lack of depth prevented the team from having a truly fine season. Sophomore Bruce Haggerty, who finished fifth in the K. of C. games in Boston, was the only talented Tuftsman in the dash. Captain Carl Freyer and sophomore Dave Thompson provided the Jumbos with two excellent men in the high and low hurdles. Allan Baskian and Mike Hughes both cleared six feet in the high jump, while Don Schneider and Dick Liberace continually placed in the pole vault and broad jump. Junior Earle Beasly held the cage record in the weight and was pressed by sophomore Carl Peterson for the number one position in the weights. Senior Jack Elstead, sophomore John Whelan, and junior Herb French were Tufts hopefuls in the distance.

HOCKEY

The Tufts hockey team has had hard luck this year, losing the initial ten games. A disappointing turnout for the team caused the Jumbo goalie, Ken Tondreau, to suffer from puck fever. Averaging forty-five or fifty saves per goal, Captain Tondreau has demonstrated that he is the equal to any goalie in New England.

The bright spots in the otherwise bleak season have been the scoring ability of Co-captain Paul Farrell and junior George Theodore, and the outstanding defensive play of Tom Foster and sophomore Paul Flanigan.

SKIING

The 1959 season was quite successful for the Jumbo Ski team as they placed fourth among the twelve teams composing the New England Intercollegiate Ski Conference. The season saw extremely stiff competition, making it no small feat to rank in the top quarter of the conference.

Having lost only one man, the team returned practically intact to continue its fine record. In 1960 with exceptional depth the team under the direction of Co-captains Bob Sanguinetti and John Young had another top ski season.

WRESTLING

The Tufts wrestling team this year suffered from lack of experience. However, under the coaching of Sam Ruggeri, and led by Captain Myron Allukian, the grapplers came through with two wins and three losses. Sophomores and juniors filled a majority of the positions, and though talented, were at a disadvantage when meeting experienced varsity wrestlers.

Captain Allukian gave some good wrestling performances with Dave Gillespie and Steve Moore backing him.

Captain Myron Allukian.

The 1959 Tufts golf team completed a successful season with a record of nine wins and three losses. Two of the losses occurred as a result of sudden death play-offs, indicating that the record could easily have been better.

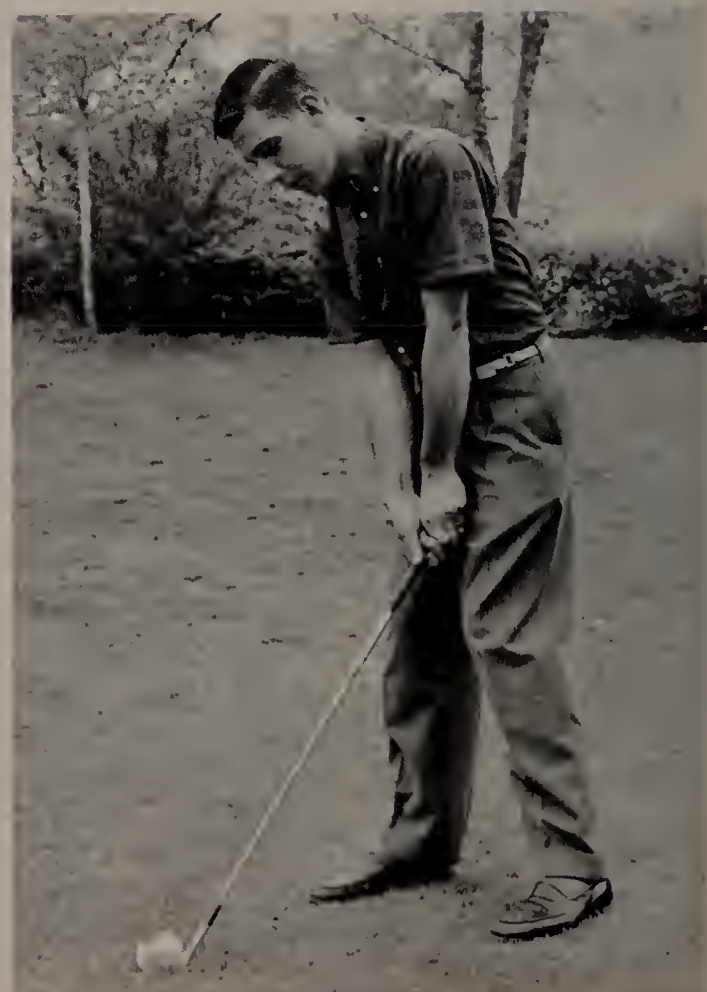

The highlight of the season was a hole in one by George Hunter. Using a number 6 iron on the 205 yard eighth hole at Sagamore Golf Course, Hunter scored the ace helping him to a low nine of 31.

Coach Grimshaw looks forward to another good season this year. Ralph Kemler, Jim Ryan, and Laurie Hatch have graduated but senior George Hunter, and juniors Bill Ryder, Jack Donahue, Rawley Hansen, and Skip Toombs will be returning.

LACROSSE

The 1959 lacrosse season statistically was a disappointment. A potentially powerful team, led by the able co-captains Jack Leckie and "Stump" Murphy, with high scorers John McClintock and Brian Golden, won only two regular season games, while dropping seven. Playing the best game of the season, the team defeated a strong Trinity club 11-3. Allowing Trinity an initial three goal lead, the Tufts stickmen rallied as a result of the effective goal tending of Fred Nichols and his thirty-two saves, to score eleven of their own before the final gun sounded. The only other win was against WPI.

BASEBALL

Pitchers Dick Dahlquist and Bill McCabe.

Coach Bob Meehan directed the Tufts baseball team to a winning season with a record of twelve wins and six losses for second place in the 1959 Greater Boston League standing. In the first game of the season Tufts handily defeated Boston College 8-1. Dick Dahlquist gave up just eight hits to Boston College, while Joe Kelfer and Tom Scannell got four and three hits respectively for Tufts. In the second game of the year Tufts met Harvard. Veteran Arnie Gerson pitched for Tufts and did an excellent job scattering ten hits and allowing four runs, one of which was unearned. That day Tufts couldn't buy a hit as they collected just four hits and three runs. Following this setback, Tufts won seven out of their next eight, the only loss being an eleven inning decision to Holy Cross. The remaining six games were evenly split.

With Bill McCabe and Dick Dahlquist, two fine pitchers returning, plus power hitters like Tom Bond, Bob McLucas, Joe Kelfer and Charlie Martin, even brighter days seem to be in store for Coach Meehan during the 1960 season.

TENNIS

Led by Captain Bob Apsey and the keen guidance of Coach Larry Palmer, the 1959 Tufts Tennis team compiled a record of five wins and four losses. In posting this record, the netmen beat Clark, Bowdoin, Bates, Holy Cross, and Babson, while losing by a very close margin to Brandeis, University of Massachusetts, and Colby. In addition to Captain Apsey, Al Savran, Bob Lidz, Bruce Johnson, Barry Fineberg, and Matt Whitehead provided depth.

Coach Palmer's prospects look bright for 1960 with Savran, Lidz, Fineberg, and Whitehead returning.

OUTDOOR TRACK

Basil Ince in front.

Paced by Basil Ince, one of Tufts' all-time sports immortals, the 1959 outdoor track team posted a record of four wins and three losses. Ince, besides being a constant winner throughout the season, also set the 440 record at the IC4A meet in New York and set a 220 mark of 20.4 seconds in a New Hampshire meet. Carl Freyer and Dan Kelleher gave Tufts depth in the high and low hurdles. Dave Moore in the distances and Earle Beasley in the weights were the only men to score consistently. In other events, senior Sandy Renard led teammate Dick Liberace in the pole vault and broad jump.

RIFLE TEAM

In spite of the inadequate facilities, each year the rifle team turns out a top-contesting group of marksmen participating in the Greater Boston Rifle League. Tufts' riflemen compete in matches with Boston College, Northeastern, MIT, Harvard, Wentworth, and Boston University. Each man is allowed 10 shots from each of three positions, prone, kneeling and standing. At the end of the season a final shoot-off is held, followed by a banquet and presentation of awards to the distinguished teams and individual shooters. Besides receiving league recognition the man holding the highest average on the Tufts team is awarded a special sharpshooters medal.

Does it hurt, Chuck?

Theta Delta Chi, by beating Delta Upsilon, became the interfraternity and all-college football champions. In golf, Ken Browninger, of Phi Sigma Kappa, led his team to the interfraternity golf title. Although Peter Wetzel of Theta Chi handily won the Cross County race, the combined effort of the Delta Tau Delta team won them the title. Phi Epsilon Pi, Alpha Sigma Phi, and Alpha Epsilon Pi were the leading volleyball teams. All six teams in the final round of basketball had a 4-1 record. They were Theta Chi, Phi Epsilon Pi, Alpha Sigma Phi, Delta Upsilon, Theta Delta Chi, and Alpha Epsilon Pi. Delta Upsilon emerged victorious in the indoor track meet and Theta Chi placed second. Barry Fineberg of Zeta Psi and Mike Shapiro, Theta Chi, were the finalists in the interfraternity squash championship. The Trophy of Trophies, awarded at Junior Day Exercises, culminated the intramural schedule.

HOCKEY

Well coached by Miss Beedem, the 1959 hockey team completed a limited but very successful season. Hampered by poor weather, the girls had to cancel many of their practices, and their games with the University of New Hampshire and Swamscott High School; yet, through spirited and skillful play and the leadership of Goalie Elaine Damiano, they easily beat Wheelock and Radcliffe 2-0 and 1-0 respectively, and gave an outstanding Pembroke team a hard fight before losing 3-2. In the only other game, the Freshmen tied Thayer Academy 2-2.

RIDING

Under ideal weather conditions, the annual Intercollegiate Riding Competition was held at Connors Riding School in West Medford on April 24. Jackson, Radcliffe and Simmons participated, judged by Mrs. Ruth Karahlis. The events included two Horsemanship classes, a Best-in-the-Show class, a Consolation class, and two Gymkhana events. The final tabulation of points found Jackson in first place with Simmons and Radcliffe tied for second place.

MARLINS

Under the leadership of President Margaret Mackenzie, Marlins utilized its weekly meetings during the fall semester for practice in synchronized swimming and water ballet. Throughout the second semester its forty members concentrated on writing and practicing the numbers for the annual show which they presented this Spring.

BASKETBALL

The Varsity and Junior Varsity Basketball teams met three times each week for practices under the direction of Miss Helen Beedem. More than half of the players are hold-overs from last year's team. The team played Radcliffe, Pembroke, Simmons, University of New Hampshire, and Northeastern University.

BOWLING

The Bowling Team was organized at the beginning of the Spring Semester. The team practiced three times a week at the Medford Hillside Bowling Alley in preparation for matches with traditional opponents, Radcliffe and Pembroke. Edith Hayward was team captain.

BADMINTON

Coached by Miss Mary Frances Wright, the varsity badminton team enjoyed a successful season. With last year's squad; Natalie Bellows, Denny Proctor, Marion Daring, Sandy Malard, and Captain June Tow, the team competed against traditional rivals Radcliffe, Pembroke, and the University of New Hampshire. Bouve and Northeastern were added to this year's schedule.

SOFTBALL

The Jackson softball team, coached by Miss Wright, was hampered in its practice this year because of the work being done on the softball field—so the team held its practice sessions in Cousens cage. The Jackson-Radcliffe game was called on account of rain. Following this disappointment the team played a very exciting game with Pembroke College on the old campus before a record crowd of enthusiastic spectators. The game was lost by a very close margin.

TENNIS

With the completion of the six new Jackson tennis courts, the tennis team went into action. During the spring, the squad members, under Miss Beedam, supervisor, attended practices three afternoons of the week. The Jackson girls participated in two intercollegiate competitions, one of which was at Radcliffe and the other at Pembroke. Both of the occasions highlighted the successful season. The squad included the following team veterans: Sandy Bromer, Pat Hanley, Natalie Bellows, Carol Moore, Connie Kellogg, Claire Cooper, Sally Crane, Irma Schwartz, Naomi Weissman, Nancy Aggress, and Peggy Nathan.

SWIMMING

The season for the Jackson Swimming Team extended from Christmas vacation to the end of March. During these months members built endurance and speed in preparation for competitive events. The meets were held in March and included Cranston High School, Radcliffe and Pembroke. Competition included free style, Butterfly, Back Crawl, form swimming and diving. With the promising freshman talent supplementing the jaded efforts of upperclassmen, and with the tolerant and warm encouragement of Mrs. Rosenmeier, the Swimming Team had a successful season.

FENCING

On guard! Parry four! Advance! Lunge! Under these directions from Miss Mary Frances Wright, fencing instructor, Jackson girls from two classes practiced in weekly sessions throughout the winter season. The instructions were climaxed by the annual Pembroke and Radcliffe matches in which the most proficient members of the class participated.

MODERN DANCE

Original choreography was the primary interest of the Modern Dance Club this year. Directed by Miss Sylvia Fischman, members of the group worked to develop their creative abilities as well as to improve their regular dance techniques. Practice sessions were held on Wednesday evenings, while additional rehearsals were called as April and the Concert drew near. Carrying on from last year's work, the club continued their interest in Jazz and in Primitive Dance. The technique involved was used extensively in the choreography for the annual Spring performance. The club also revived the Modern Dance Symposium with participants from Pembroke and Radcliffe. Officers for 1959 were President, Sandra Tullis, and Secretary, Carol Snider.

We must learn to work together, in school and in life, if we ever hope to achieve the degree of cooperation necessary to prevent ourselves from destroying each other.

ORGANIZATIONS

Thomas O'Brien, President.

Few universities or colleges the size of Tufts can boast as many student organizations as exist on the Hill. Governing bodies, religious clubs, departmental clubs, communication groups, and special interest groups have provided the Tufts student with unusual opportunities to satisfy hidden ambitions, to discover special talents, to learn more about his chosen profession, to develop a keener awareness of his religious beliefs, and to enjoy healthy social relationships. Few students can say that they have found no organization to interest them. In fact the typical Tuftsman is a participant in several groups; perhaps a leader in one, a follower in another, but regardless of position deriving great benefit. To one, excitement may be generated by class elections or council meetings, to another by working with others in philanthropic endeavors, to still another by listening to and taking part in discussions with prominent faculty members in his major department, and to yet another by sharing ideas about religion with members of his faith and oftentimes with those of a different persuasion.

Some organizations bestow an honor on their members by virtue of their membership either by participation in extra-curricula activities or by excellence in academic pursuits.

Whatever their intent organizations at Tufts have been an integral part of our four years on the hill, providing us with many memorable experiences not easily to be forgotten.

TUFTS STUDENT COUNCIL

JACKSON STUDENT COUNCIL

The Tufts University Student Council in fulfilling its primary purpose of representing the opinions and interests of the students of the various schools of the university, has been the scene of many hard fought debates and at times extremely lively discussion. The loyalty affidavit issue brought forth considerable controversy and the antagonists both pro and con did credit to themselves and to the Council.

The diverse committee and commission system of the Council accounts for many of its accomplishments. The fine work of the Elections Commission this year was reflected in the best freshman elections system in recent years. The "no-fix" policy of the Traffic Commission once again proved the ability of the Tuftsman to manage his own affairs with intelligence and objectivity. The debacle of Ivy Weekend 1959 spurred the Organizations Committee to set up a unified University Calendar and Planning Board.

The Jackson Student Council has undertaken the pleasurable task of coordinating all activities held in honor of the fiftieth anniversary of Jackson College. An especial effort has been made to keep all Jaxonites constantly aware of the problems and issues confronting the Council as well as to instill in all students loyalty to college and a sense of individual responsibility.

Bette-Joy Panebianco, President.

INTER-DORMITORY COUNCIL

The Inter-Dormitory Council of the university had its most challenging year in its short history during 1959-1960. Led by a dynamic and well experienced executive committee, the Council met the many problems with which it was faced with enthusiasm and strength. The installation of a new constitution, the appointment of a judiciary committee that soon earned campus respect for its fair and objective decisions, and the creation of House Councils to augment the work of the Council were a few of the innovations this year.

The many hours of honest, frank discussion on the "Open Door" policy and the new alcohol regulations proved to the campus that the Council was deserving of student support.

To supplement its legislative functions and to provide dormitory residents with an organized social program, the IDC sponsored several post-football game mixers and informal dances as well as its annual Christmas party.

Lawrence LaPolla, President.

Since its formation in 1956, the Jackson Judiciary Council has been composed of some of the most capable and respected Jaxonites. The Council members this year have had an unusual appreciation of the dual nature of their role which is to provide both correction and guidance to the offender. Behind each decision of the Council there has been a deep respect for the integrity of the individual and of the community. It is for the maintenance of that integrity that Jackson Judiciary functions.

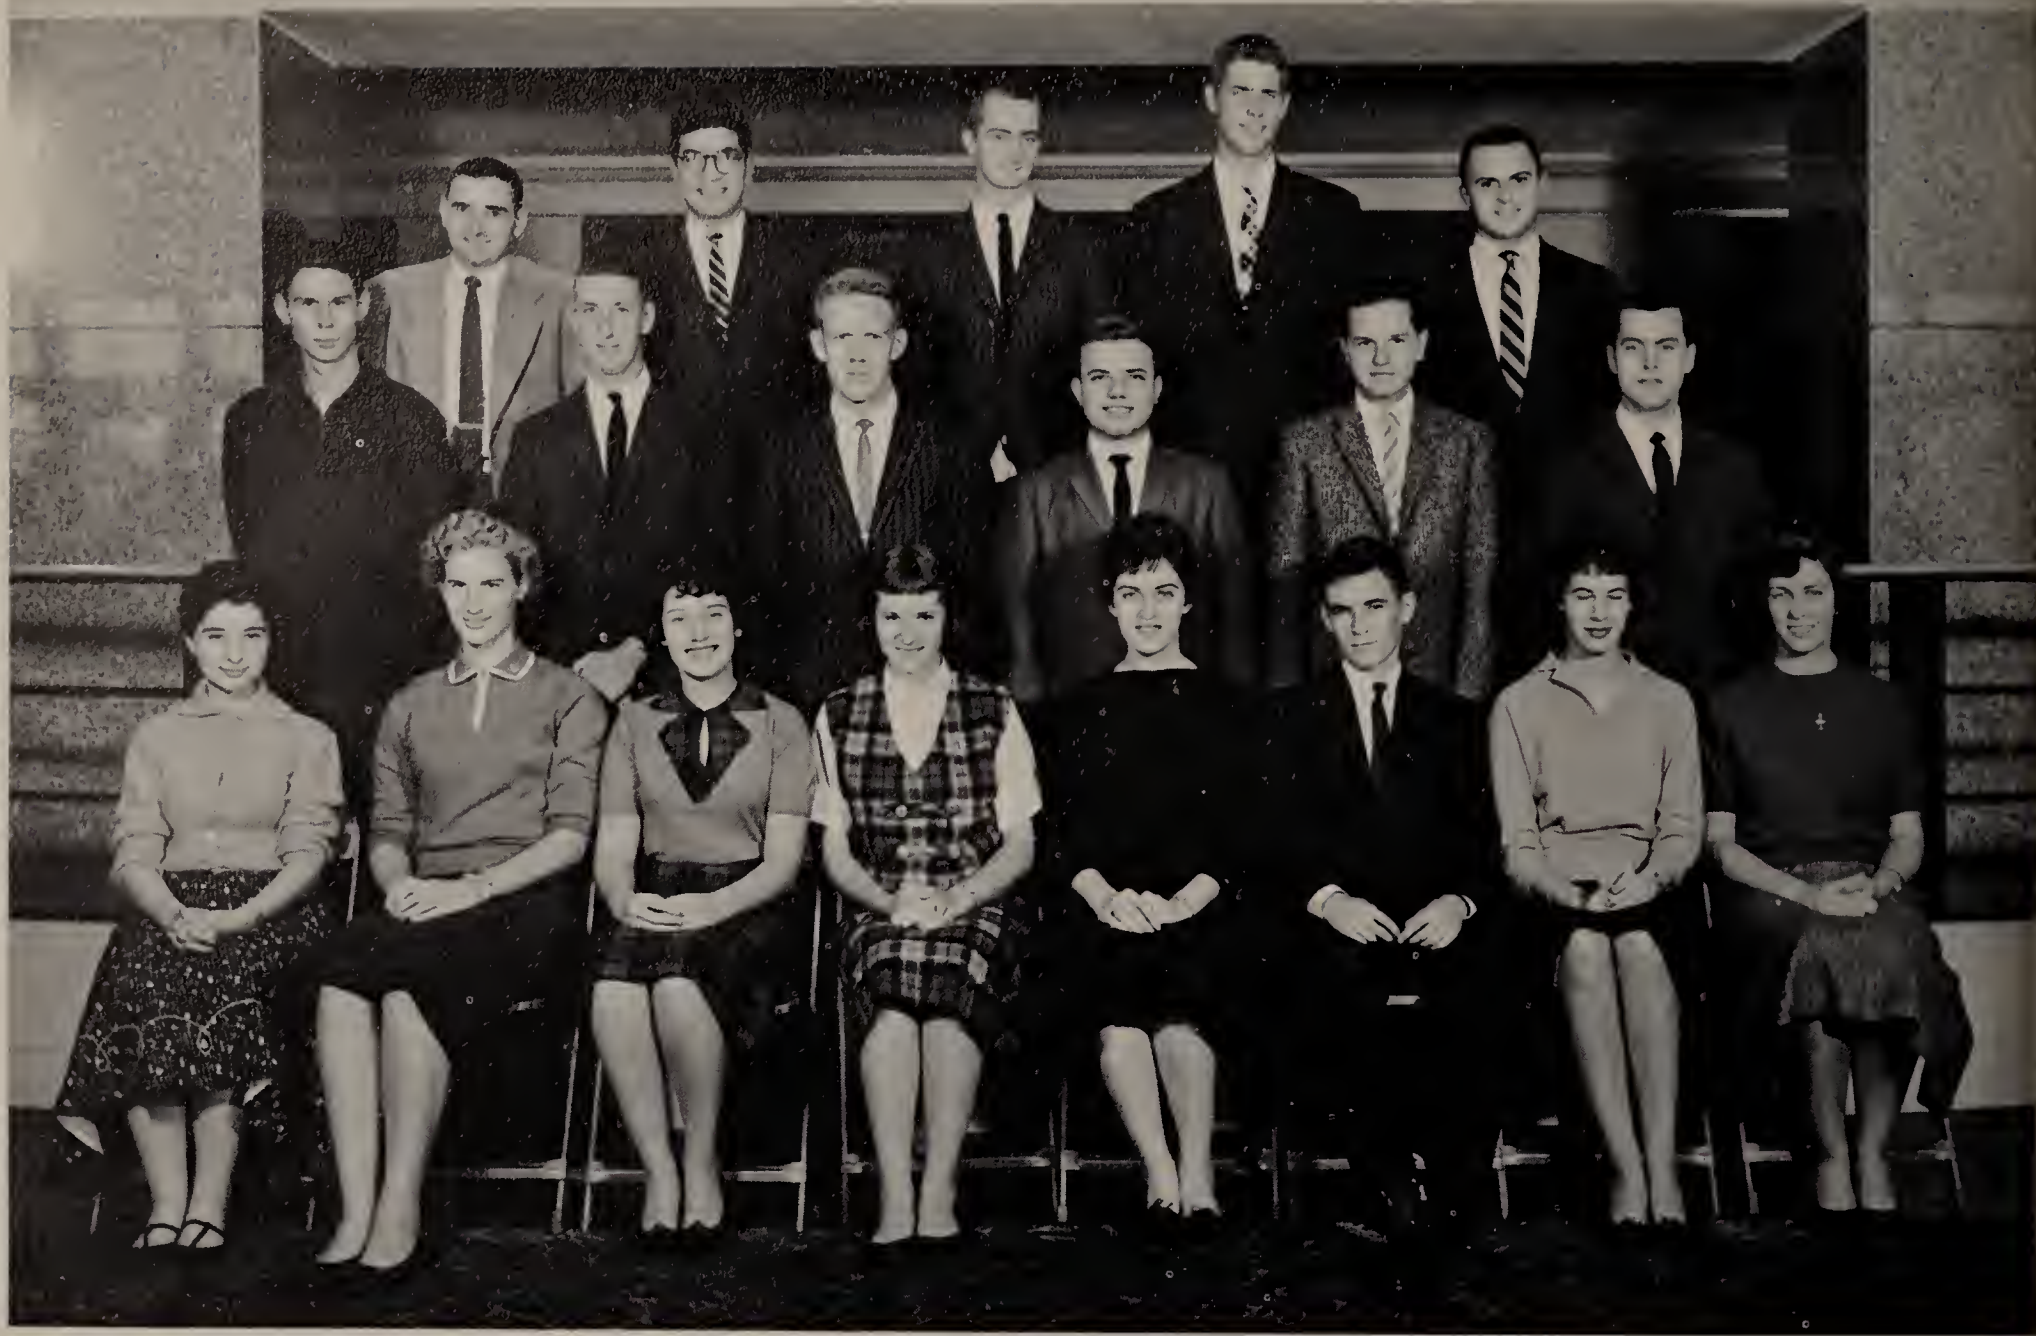

Patricia Martin-Jenkins, President.

JACKSON JUDICIARY COUNCIL

Presidents Wessell and Johnson.

SOCIETY OF SCHOLARS

The Society of Scholars was organized to promote intellectual activity and to encourage fellowship of scholars in the university community. Members are chosen annually and consist of the highest ranking members of the Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes of the three colleges—Liberal Arts, Jackson, and Engineering. Ex Officio members include the President of the University, who is President of the Society, and the Deans of the three colleges. The Society meets from two to four times a year for the sociable exchange of ideas through lectures and discussions.

This year, the Society held a tea in honor of Dr. Elvin Stakman, a noted botanist from the University of Minnesota. Members met and talked informally with their guest, then discussed various aspects of education, including the work of UNICEF in underdeveloped countries, and, in general, the value of science in education. In January, the group conducted a panel discussion on foreign systems of education at the high school and college level, with members of the Tufts faculty as panelists.

James Cudmore, President.

The Off-Hill Council, only six years old, can look back on the academic year 1959-1960 as the best in its brief history. It can take pride in the establishment of Hillside House, the product of the work of devoted Council members. The house, besides providing overnight accommodations for Tufts male commuters, has a lounge, kitchenette, and study facilities. This year several "open-house" parties were held in an attempt to help form a closer alliance of commuter and on-hiller.

PHI BETA KAPPA

Phi Beta Kappa, the oldest of the Greek-letter societies, was founded by a group of students at the College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Virginia, in 1776. At first a secret society, its main purpose was the discussion of any topic that caught the fancy of its members. Later the society dropped its secrecy and its original function to become strictly honorary.

Membership in Phi Beta Kappa is limited to upperclassmen that have demonstrated high scholastic ability. Election is by faculty members of the university's chapter.

The Tufts Chapter of Tau Beta Pi, National Engineering Honor Society, is one of 102 chapters throughout the country. Selection is based primarily on scholastic achievement but with attention also paid to integrity, breadth of interest, adaptability, and unselfish activity. The Tufts Chapter's activities during the school year 1959-1960 consisted of slide rule and tutoring classes for freshmen, presentation of a book to the sophomore in the College of Engineering who maintained the highest average during his freshman year, and an Initiation Banquet with speaker each semester.

TAU BETA PI

Elia Demetri; Paul Blomster; David Trimble, Vice-Pres.; John Simon, Pres.; Jeffery Hall, Rec. Sec.; Kenneth Kelley; Water Halberg; Richard Liberace.

The Junior Class, under the leadership of Bob Hempstead and Maron Loeb, enjoyed a successful year due to the Tufts-Jackson teamwork in planning class activities.

Tufts started its program with the class picnic at the Blue Hills Reservation, which was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone who attended. The Jackson Junior Class began its own activities with breakfast for its freshman little sisters.

The Junior Dinner Dance, held at the Commonwealth Country Club during the second semester, was the highlight of the class's social program.

Movies presented in Cohen not only bolstered the treasury, but provided entertainment for the entire University.

CLASS OFFICERS—1962

The year began for the '62 officers with the traditional Freshman Hazing. The Tufts men cooperated with the Sword and Shield Society in Traditions Week, while Jackson scheduled a Coffee Hour, Frosh-Soph Sings, Hug-A-Tree and Hug-A-Boy days, and Fraternity Ribbon Collections.

Tufts and Jackson cooperated in presenting the class's first social event of the year, the Autumn Leaves Dance, which brought both class treasuries to new highs. Following this, a Jackson Soph-Senior Breakfast reacquainted the Seniors with their Sophomore little sisters. The election of the Tufts Cross-Sectional Council in October enabled the officers to bring more of their classmates into the organization and planning of the year's activities; and shortly before Christmas a raffle was held for the purchase of CARE packages.

In its activities during second semester, the Class looked forward to its Junior year, with Jackson Sophs wearing their blazers on Junior Day, and Tuftsmen planning moneymaking activities in preparation for the big expenditures of the year ahead.

The Freshman Class began the year with a spirited encounter with Sword and Shield Society members during Traditions Week.

During the following two months the class participated in the first successful use of the two party election system at Tufts. Soon after the elections, a cross-sectional council was established to act as a go-between for officers and class members. A constitution having been adopted, the class of '63 was ready to roll.

A class newsletter has been established, which served to inform the class of past activities and give notice of coming activities. Among the activities of the year was the Freshman Class Party, which was a financial and social success.

... and that's Carmichael Hall ...

The Chironian Society, the Jackson sophomore honor society, was established in 1957 to fulfill a need in Jackson College for representatives to introduce the student body to the public. In this capacity, the girls serve as official hostesses of the school.

The Society, which has a maximum membership of twenty-six, furnishes guides to pre-freshmen and other visitors; and also assists at various alumnae functions. The group accomplished closer co-ordination with the Alumnae Association and provided a program for speakers at various high schools in the Boston area and in members' home towns.

SWORD AND SHIELD

Now in its 57th year on the Tufts campus, the the Sword and Shield Traditions Society introduced the incoming Class of 1963 to campus traditions. The twenty elected members were easily identifiable on the campus, promoting and installing class spirit among the "frosh" by means of their black and white paddles.

Placing heavy emphasis on properly initiating the Class of 1963 into Tufts this year, the Society held a "Pray for Rain Night," sponsored several song rallies and a short tug-of-war held during half-time of the Tufts-Williams football game, and published the Freshman Directory.

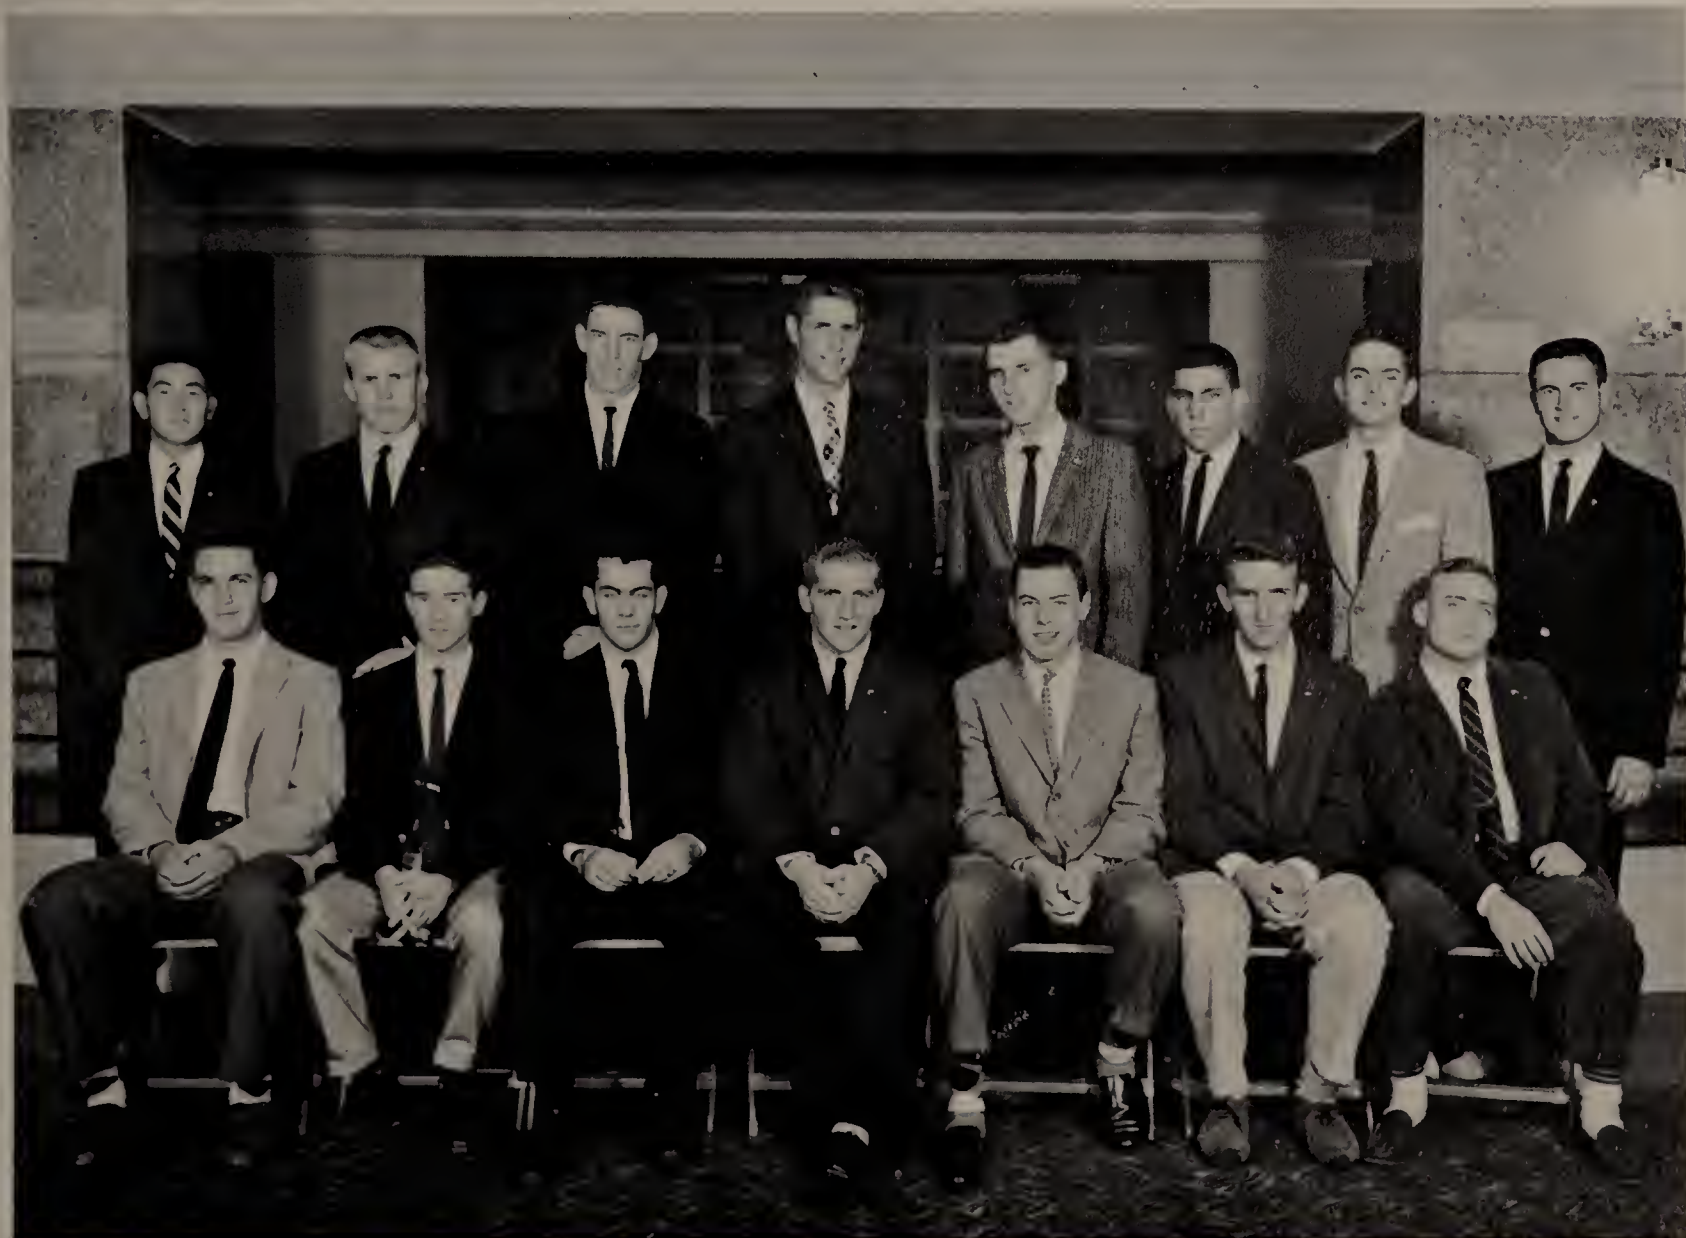

The biggest event of the year was the annual Freshman Traditions Dance at Cousens Gym where the highlight of the evening was the presentation of the paddles to their respective owners by the Freshmen.

Only because of the fine co-operation and class spirit displayed by the Freshman Class did this Sophomore Honorary Society feel that it had had a successful year.

They just don't make ropes the way they used to.

IVY SOCIETY

The Ivy Society recognizes those members of the Junior Class who have made outstanding contributions to the College. The society aids the officers in the promotion of class functions.

The duties of the Ivy Society this year have included ushering at all official Senior class functions and at academic honors. The Ivy Book, an annual publication issued originally by the Ivy Society of 1902, describing practically every phase of life at Tufts, will be prepared for publication in September, 1960 by this year's Society.

In recent years the main activity of the organization has been the conducting of Ivy Weekend. Ivy Weekend 1960 consisted of the Junior Day exercises, the Ivy Ball, and the Saturday evening musical concert.

ALPHA KAPPA DELTA

The Alpha Chapter of Alpha Kappa Delta, National Sociology Honor Society, was organized on the Tufts campus in 1953. The Society's purpose is to advance the study of sociology and to stimulate interest in investigating its special areas. The Society encourages the scholarship of students in this field and provides opportunities for close student-faculty relations. It seeks further to provide information on career opportunities in the field through student and guest lecturers with practical experience in sociology.

LAMBERT-KINGSLEY SOCIETY

The Lambert-Kingsley Society was organized in 1938 as an honorary society for the purpose of promoting interest, fellowship, and research in the field of biology. For the benefit of the Tufts community, L-K broadened its enrollment to all students under an associate membership plan, while still retaining special membership for those with the required academic average.

The programs featured movies, trips to local research laboratories and biological museums, and guest speakers of prominence in the field of biology.

John Birnbaum; Allan Dinnerstein, Vice-Pres.; Clifford O'Connell; Stanley Rosenberg, Pres.; Gene Mayer, Treas.; John Paraskos, Sec.

OMICRON CHI EPSILON

The three Greek letters OXE signify the society's motto: Economics the Science of Means. Its purposes and objectives are to stimulate and promote student interest in all aspects of economics, to secure support for promising students, and to confer distinction for high scholastic achievement.

PSI CHI

The Tufts University Chapter of Psi Chi was organized in 1939 as the Alexander Bain Society. In 1950, it affiliated with Psi Chi, the national honorary society in psychology. The society endeavors to advance the science of psychology and to encourage, stimulate and maintain the scholarship of the individual members.

To accomplish this end, the society entertained speakers of repute in its meetings and sponsored psychology open houses in conjunction with the Psychology Department.

TAU KAPPA ALPHA

The national forensic honorary society, Tau Kappa Alpha, has a local chapter at Tufts which annually recognizes those students who have made a notable contribution to Tufts forensic activity. But Tau Kappa Alpha is not solely an honorary group. It justified its position on the Tufts campus by joining with the Forensic Council to sponsor two annual all-college speaking contests and the Tufts Annual Invitational Debate Tournament which was attended by teams from the entire eastern section of the country.

Mr. O'Neil, Faculty Advisor; Maron Loeb, Pres.; Wayne Starr, Vice-Pres.

RELIGIOUS COUNCIL

The Religious Council is a cooperative council composed of delegates from each of the religious clubs on campus. The purpose of the council is to promote cooperation and understanding among these groups, to stimulate the interest of the student in his religious faith, and to act as a liaison between the organizations and the administration.

This year it sponsored a series of Inter-Faith Symposiums on various topics as well as a square dance and its usual program for Brotherhood Week. The council also worked on a questionnaire concerning student religious interest and types of programs that students would find most interesting.

BAPTIST STUDENT FELLOWSHIP

Tufts Baptist students form an integral part of the Young Adult Fellowship of the First Baptist Church of Medford. This group is composed of post-high school young people from the local area. The purpose of the group is to provide an organization where Christian young people can meet together to further their Christian growth and maturity in all aspects of life.

The activities of the group fall into four categories: Study, Worship, Service, and Fellowship. Meetings are held every Sunday night at the church with the exception of those Sundays when the group meets with the United Protestant Fellowship of Tufts. Some of the activities this year have included a talk by Dr. Robert Miller of Tufts, a Halloween Party, and a Christmas party for an orphanage.

CHAPEL CHOIR

The Tufts University Chapel Choir through the years has become an integral part of the non-sectarian services held weekly in Goddard Chapel. The group practiced one evening each week to prepare an anthem for the Sunday service; in addition it assists the congregation in the singing of hymns. The choir also took part in the campus celebration of holidays as in its presentation of special music at Thanksgiving and participation in the candlelight carol service at Christmas.

CONGREGATIONAL CLUB

In the fall a group of interested Congregational students led by two of last year's members, Dave Woods and Lynne Birlem, and with the assistance of Rev. James Smith, undertook the reorganization of the Congregational Club on the campus. This group planned activities with the intention of fostering fellowship among the Congregational students at Tufts.

One of the aims of the club has been to attend and support the activities of the advisor's church, the North Street Congregational Church. Reverend Smith's donations of time and service have been invaluable in the achievement of the club's goals.

Some of the scheduled events at the Sunday evening meetings were lectures, panel discussions, and "splash" parties. The program was supplemented by participation in the activities of the United Protestant Fellowship.

CANTERBURY CLUB

The Canterbury Club is an organization composed of students and faculty members interested in the Episcopal Church.

This year the club welcomed a new advisor, Mr. Todd, a student at the Episcopal Theological Seminary in Cambridge.

On the agenda were discussions, films and visits to various places of worship. Volunteer work at the Children's Unit of the Waltham State Hospital highlighted the activities.

Twice a month the club sponsored Wednesday morning communion services at Crane Chapel. The group also participated in the Annual Candlelight Carol service at Christmas time.

Joan Griffin, Sec.; Don McNutt, Pres.; Elizabeth Nichols, Treas.; Nancy Bennett.

Joe Porter; Mark Golub, Rec. Sec.; Thomas Schachtman; Esor Ben-Sorek, Director; Alan Delman, Pres.; Lois Golden; Richard Slosberg, Vice-Pres.

HILLEL

Hillel, the Jewish student organization at Tufts University, is an affiliate of the international B'nai B'rith foundation. As such, it provides for the religious, cultural, educational, social, and counseling needs of all Jewish students on the Hill. Through its student-run program of weekly Sabbath services, classes in Judaism past and present, brunches and suppers with guest speakers occasionally held in conjunction with other religious groups, discussion groups, social functions, and participation in regional and national institutes, Hillel gives every Jewish student a chance to fully explore his own religious heritage.

INTER-VARSITY CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

IVCF is a small, non-denominational group, affiliated with a world-wide student organization. Its members are drawn together by mutual interest and belief in the Bible and its teachings, and a desire to know more about them. To satisfy their purpose they met once a week in Braker, usually for Bible study, occasionally to hear a special speaker. The speakers were drawn from the surrounding area, and were usually churchmen or IVFC personnel invited to help clarify or resolve certain issues that arise in the weekly discussions. Because of IV's inter-faith membership, these discussions were quite informative.

Dorothy Daddona; Jim Lipsett, Vice-Pres.; Rachel Spangler, Pres.; Ed Claus, Treas.; Jean Messa.

WESLEY CLUB

The Wesley Foundation is the Methodist Church on campus. Its primary functions are to provide a center for the student's religious life, and to encourage him to think seriously about his faith; therefore the Sunday evening programs included worship, fellowship and speakers, both from within and outside the University, discussing various topics such as the relationship of religion and psychology, Christianity and race relations, and the meaning of the Church.

UNITY CLUB

Composed largely of Unitarians and Universalists, the club is affiliated with the New England Channing-Murray Conference of Liberal Religious Youth.

Unity Club's programs are designed to be of special interest to religious liberals and of general intellectual interest to the entire campus. The programs this year have included Ken Patton, minister of the Charles Street Meeting House, speaking on "Art and Religion"; Swami Akhilananda of the Vedanta Society in Boston; delegates to the Vienna Youth Festival; and Mr. Bird of the Russian Department, speaking on "Religion in the U.S.S.R."

This year Unity Club began publication of a monthly newsletter, "The Beacon," and experimented in creative worship.

WESTMINSTER FELLOWSHIP

The Tufts Westminster Fellowship, newly-organized this year, met on the first and third Sundays of each month at the Clarendon Hill Presbyterian Church to discuss Christian matters pertaining to college life and the solutions to religious and moral problems which college students encounter. Through lectures and discussion, the group tried to find the best way to meaningful Christian living on the Tufts campus and the means of allying religious ideals and aspirations with daily situations.

The advisor for the group is Reverend William MacDuffie, pastor of the Clarendon Hill Church. Refreshments were served after the meetings, and the club as a whole took part in the activities of the combined Protestant clubs.

LUTHERAN CLUB

The Tufts Lutheran Club is a part of the Lutheran Student Association of America and the Lutheran Student Federation of New England. The organization participated each Sunday in the extensive student program of the University Lutheran Church of Cambridge, and meetings were also held twice a month on the campus.

Carol Kaiser; Alan Dickinson, Pres.; Ruth Fickter.

NEWMAN CLUB

The Newman Club seeks to further the religious education of Catholic students and follows a program which is basically religious, educational, and social.

Regular meetings were held on Tuesdays in Goddard Chapel and featured discussions led by prominent outside speakers or by Father LeBlanc, Catholic Chaplain of the University. Club social events throughout the year ranged from hayrides and dances to picnics. One Sunday a month, the club sponsored a Coffee and Doughnuts Hour at St. Clement's Church after 10:30 Mass. Its annual Communion Breakfast was held early in the second semester.

The Club also published its own newspaper, which was made available to all students of the University.

UNITED PROTESTANT FELLOWSHIP

The purpose of United Protestant Fellowship is to serve the individual Protestant on the Tufts campus, so that he might enjoy fuller faith, fellowship, and communication with others.

Activities during the year included several dinner meetings with speakers or forums, which covered such subjects as "Positive Living," "Alcoholics Anonymous," "Idols in the American Culture," and "Inter-Faith Marriages." Special events featured a Christmas Candlelight service, Christmas caroling, and hayrides.

NROTC

The Department of Naval Science, staffed by personnel of the Regular Navy and Marine Corps, is a unit of the Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps. Since 1946, the NROTC has resumed its peacetime role by providing instruction and training leading to commissions in both the Regular and Reserve components of the Navy and the Marine Corps.

During the academic year, the midshipmen take one course per semester in the Department of Naval Science and devote one afternoon a week to developing leadership ability and drill proficiency.

Leadership in the NROTC unit at Tufts is provided by the battalion staff which is composed of outstanding members of the Senior class. Selection as a battalion officer is based on academic achievement and leadership ability.

The staff planned and co-ordinated the drill periods and supervised the annual affairs of the unit, including the orphans' Christmas party and the Military Ball in the spring. The spring and fall picnics, which rounded out the unit's social program, were also the work of this group.

The Naval ROTC Marching Band is composed of midshipman volunteers from the Navy unit and is on deck to provide music for the fall and spring reviews, the changing of command ceremonies, the First Naval District Inspections, commemoration parades, and the annual orphans' Christmas party.

The NROTC Drill Team is a group of midshipmen seriously interested in acquiring a degree of proficiency in military drill not offered by regular battalion drill.

Drill is not considered as an end in itself, but serves to develop the confidence and command presence necessary for successful leadership of men.

This year, following tradition, the drill team performed at the Tufts-Rochester football game and at the annual PNS fall and spring reviews. The most important event of the year was the competition with the AFROTC Drill Team held in April.

John Simon; David Trimble; David Tait; Alan Flanagan, Battalion Commander; Thomas O'Brien; Andrew Kerr; Eric Straumanis.

Louis Gitto; Sandris Stubelis; Herbert Kopf; William Quinn, Group Commander; Marshall Delano; Joseph Bishop; Herbert Gordon; Paul Jacobs.

AFROTC

Cadet Group 350 of the AFROTC Program is in its tenth year at Tufts. Under the command of Lt.-Col. Samuel Velebny, USAF, the Detachment continued its striving to develop into one of the top units in the New England area. This year the group, under the capable leadership of Cadet Colonel William H. Quinn, numbers over 200 cadets. Highlight of the year's program was the formal Military Ball which was held at the L. G. Hanscom Field officers' club in conjunction with the Navy ROTC unit.

The Group Staff is a body of officers appointed to assist the Cadet Commander in administrative activities which are beyond the scope of individual control. Each staff officer has a particular area of responsibility—training, inspection, publications, personnel—which requires special knowledge and techniques as requisites to effective group activity.

BAND

The Air Force ROTC Band provides the Cadet Group with music and marches for drill sessions. Composed of approximately twenty volunteer members from the unit, it practices during the weekly drill sessions throughout the year.

The band provided music for the Professor of Air Science Reviews conducted in the Fall and Spring. On national holidays it performed in parades held in local communities. With the good turn-out of cadets and the leadership of Cadet Lt. Seery, the band was successful in accomplishing its mission during the past year.

ARMED DRILL TEAM

The AFROTC Armed Drill Team is recognized as one of the finest in New England. For the past five years the unit has reached the finals in the New England Area AFROTC Drill Competition held at Trinity College. Commanded by Paul M. Wood, the team also participated in a Boston Area Drill Team Meet, in addition to performing at various civilian celebrations.

UNARMED DRILL TEAM

The Tufts University unarmed drill team is an organization of AFROTC cadets. Admission to this flight is competitive and an honor.

The drill team practices three to five hours a week to perfect the members' leadership abilities and improve their marching and command experience.

The unarmed drill team has reached the finals every time it has entered the annual New England Drill Team Meet. This year the team favorably represents the University and the Air Force in this annual Meet.

ODIKON PRESENTS...

Odikon, the honorary music society of Tufts consisting of undergraduate students who have proved their sustained interest and participation in music, has as its purpose the performance, promotion, and production of undergraduate and professional musical activities at Tufts University. In its official capacity, Odikon presented the University Band, Chorus and Orchestra in all their appearances during the past year.

With its singing of the anthem and the benediction at the Academic Honors Exercises, the Tufts University Chorus began its most active year. Immediately thereafter rehearsal commenced on its second annual presentation of "Amahl and the Night Visitors," which was performed with the original television cast in the leading roles.

After Christmas vacation, the Chorus held an open rehearsal to which high school students from surrounding areas were invited. The music rehearsal was that sung on the Chorus Tour, a seven-day bus trip between semesters, for Tufts Clubs and high schools in Albany, N. Y., Washington, D.C., Bridgeport, Middletown and Wethersfield, Conn.

As always, at "Tufts Night at the Pops," the Chorus as well as undergraduates and alumni filled Symphony Hall with the vibrant sound of Tufts songs. It was a fitting end to a productive and enjoyable year.

TUFTS COMMUNITY ORCHESTRA

The Tufts University Community Orchestra, under the direction of Daniel C. Abbott, is composed of undergraduate and graduate students, faculty, and musicians from the surrounding community. The main purpose of the orchestra is to acquaint its members with a representative orchestral repertoire. It also provides opportunity for student conducting. This season's schedule included an informal concert in the spring, and accompanying the performance of "Amahl and the Night Visitors."

TUFTS UNIVERSITY BAND

The Tufts Band, under the direction of Professor William King, performed at football games, a combined concert with the Northeastern University Band, and at a special show of light music entitled "Pops Night at Tufts," an informal presentation of popular and light classical music given in Jackson Gym for the benefit of the Women's Club's Charities. The casual atmosphere inspired by the serving of refreshments at small tables during the concert, a la Boston Pops, made this one of the most popular musical events of the season.

This year the band was composed of approximately forty students from the undergraduate colleges of Tufts.

THE TUFTS WEEKLY

The Tufts Weekly is one of the chief means of communication of the College and consists of an elaborate organization which assembles and brings to the printed page, news and ideas of interest to the student body. In addition, the Weekly has the task of discovering and publishing those issues and deficiencies which necessitate constructive criticism.

This year the Weekly became, once again, a weekly newspaper, reverting from the twice-weekly publishing of last year. The paper is no longer printed on campus, but now goes to press in a modern print shop in a neighboring town.

This year's staff has been exceptionally able and hard-working, and has responded to the demands of a busy campus with willingness and enthusiasm.

... everybody reads the Weekly.

The Fourth Estate is the honorary society of journalism. Its membership consists of those students who have been active on the Tufts Weekly and who have shown a significant degree of ability in their work on the newspaper. Working in conjunction with the Tufts Student Council, the Fourth Estate carried on an intensive investigation into the many organizations of the College, with the intention of critically analyzing the contributions of these organizations to the College community.

THE TUFTONIAN

The literary magazine of Tufts, the Tuftonian, is the only such medium readily available to Tufts students. It can be a valuable experience to publish, and the Tuftonian affords this opportunity to students who do exceptional work in art or letters beyond or within the required college curriculum.

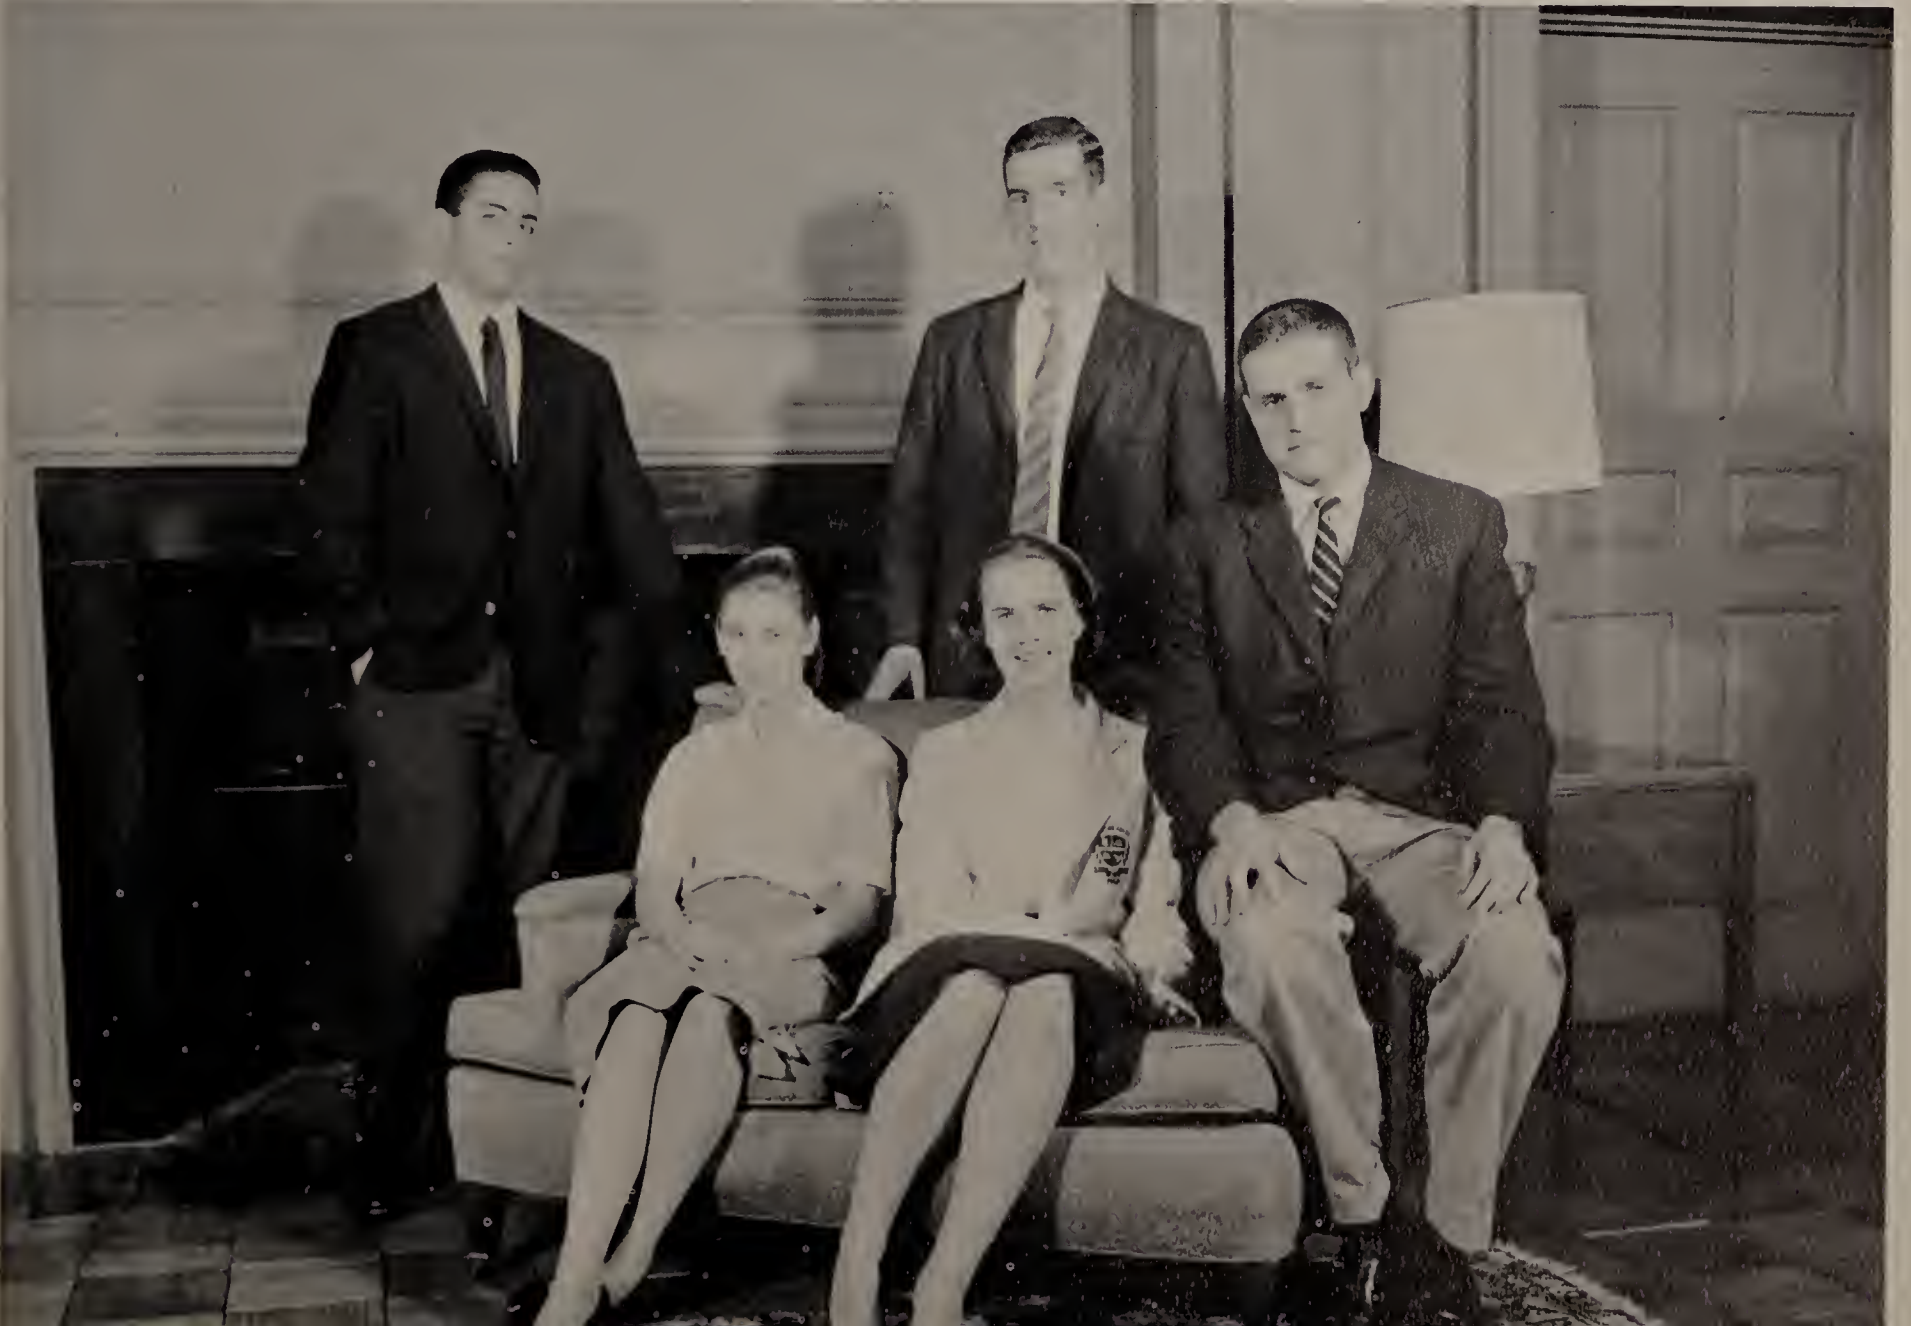

In addition to a presentation of what its editors feel is the best of the original work in prose non-fiction and fiction, poetry, and ink and pencil drawings currently being done in the undergraduate body, the Tuftonian has shown in this past year a number of critical articles and editorials by staff members, a tribute to poet Robert Frost, and, somewhat unusual for a literary magazine, the publication of original work in geometry by Dr. Aaboe of the Mathematics Department.

This year, the editorial staff was reduced in number, in hopes that the selection and editing of material would be done more efficiently and effectively. The intent is for each member of the Tuftonian's small staff to become more interested in his part in the making of the magazine.

Yes John, you're in that one too.

The material on and surrounding the page which you are now reading is the product of twelve months' work by the Tufts Jumbo Yearbook staff. As you browse through these pages you will see many familiar faces and memorable scenes. Some of the pictures may be of old friends, people you wish you had met, the character you wish you hadn't, and who knows, maybe a picture of yourself. By now you can see that the Jumbo Yearbook is really a history book covering the span of one year; this particular one being 1959-60.

Work is begun on the new book practically before the old one has gone to press. The succeeding editorial staff is formed, printers and photographers are invited to submit bids for contracts, and the Jumbo Book is ready to record another year on the Tufts campus.

WTCR strives first and foremost to offer its members an opportunity to enlarge their educational experience through the facilities of radio. A young organization, WTCR has grown in a short time to become one of the largest and most influential campus groups.

WTCR

Extended play by play sports broadcasts, accurate and immediate campus news reporting, a liberal editorial policy, and programs of an educational value characterized the station this year.

Extensive physical improvements were made in the station in the Summer of 1959 which have enabled WTCR to be heard in all dormitories on the hill. Future plans include going on the air on the FM band.

ENGINEERS' COUNCIL

The Tufts University Engineers' Council serves as the coordinating body for all the engineering societies on campus. Its members are elected representatives from these societies.

This year the Council sponsored an informal smoker for the engineering students and faculty, featuring skits by the engineering groups. Another successful event was the panel discussion by professional engineers, acquainting the undergraduates with the problems and decisions they will face as professional engineers. The Council performed an additional service by participating in the newly organized Pre-freshman Orientation Program.

AIChE

Promoting awareness of the functions and responsibilities of the chemical engineer is the main purpose of the Tufts Student Chapter of the AIChE. The monthly meetings centered around speakers employed in some phase of chemical engineering.

Other activities included plant trips to Carling's Brewery, American Gelatin Company, Hood Milk Company, and the Monsanto Chemical Plant.

AIEE-IRE

The Tufts Joint Student Branch of AIEE-IRE is sponsored by two professional engineering societies, The American Institute of Electrical Engineers and The Institute of Radio Engineers. The branch holds regular monthly meetings featuring speakers who are usually authorities on some recent technical device or subject.

Membership is open to all undergraduate electrical engineers, and continual membership in the professional societies after graduation is urged.

This year one of the major outside activities was the Engineering Council smoker where entertaining skits depicting life in the various engineering classes were staged. The outing and beach party in the spring was awaited all year and climaxed the society's activities.

ASCE

The Tufts Student Chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers is under the direct auspices of the national parent society. As in the past, members benefited by publications of the society, monthly student meetings, and contact with practicing civil engineers. Field trips provided the student with first hand information which could not be learned from text books. The chapter climaxed its activities with the annual guest night held in the spring.

ASME

One of the purposes of The American Society of Mechanical Engineers at Tufts is to maintain contact with leaders of every major branch of mechanical engineering. At section meetings, students met others in the community with similar professional interests. The privilege was extended to attend national division conferences, and general society meetings as well as the regional student conference.

The year's activities included many interesting speakers, a dinner dance, and the ever popular trip to Carling's Brewery.

MAD SOCIETY

Although Tufts is fortunate in having many fine dramatic productions each year, some students felt a need for entertainment in a lighter vein. 1958 saw an organization formed to present musical comedies on campus. This group is the Music and Dance Society, popularly called MAD.

The first production, "The Boyfriend," was presented in May, 1959. It was a musical farce dealing with life in a fashionable girls boarding school in England during the Roaring Twenties. It featured "Charleston" dance numbers and songs in the style of the flapper era. The production included accompaniment by twin pianos, and the addition of a singing and dancing chorus of sixteen of the usual cast. The show was financed by "theatrical angels"; students and members of the community who bought shares and were repaid out of box office receipts.

PEN, PAINT, AND PRETZELS

Pen, Paint and Pretzels, the honorary undergraduate drama society of Tufts University, was organized in June of 1910 and has been the main theatrical producing society on campus ever since.

It was founded by five students who hoped to "encourage dramatic interest at Tufts University by the production of original plays by students and graduates of Tufts and Jackson."

The "Cup and Saucer" and Studio productions, directed by graduate students and enterprising seniors, were encouraged by Three P's in addition to the organization's three main productions.

MIDDLE HALL

Middle Hall, the students' literary club, celebrated its twentieth anniversary this year. Again, the high point of the year was Robert Frost's annual presentation. This year Mr. Frost spoke in Cohen Auditorium, where the audience overflowed onto the stage, crowded in the aisles and stood in the back to hear him.

Readings by students and faculty members of original or favorite works comprised the rest of the schedule. The readings took place in the Gott Room, and these pleasant surroundings, containing valuable editions of English and American works, added color to the meetings.

CLASSICAL CLUB

The Tufts Classical Club was established to promote interest and appreciation of classical history, culture, and language, and to provide all interested students with an opportunity to entertain their minds through enriching their knowledge.

The year's events were highlighted by the club's Annual Christmas Party, at which Christmas Carols were sung in Latin and the Christmas Story was read in Greek, and by an informal presentation of a Greek play in the spring.

PHILOSOPHY CLUB

The Philosophy Club was founded in 1958 by a group of philosophy majors. The club has two main functions: to broaden the interest of Tufts students in various aspects of philosophy and the related humanities, and to provide opportunities for philosophy majors to hear lecturers prominent in their fields.

The Club was not intended to be a clique of errant young pedants with a narrowed common taste; rather, the emphasis has been placed on diversification and on a general participation of all Tufts students who are philosophically inclined, no matter what their field of concentration.

FORENSIC COUNCIL

The Tufts University Forensic Council is composed of all students interested in debating. Its primary activity in the past year was participation in intercollegiate debating tournaments at Dartmouth, New York University, Northwestern and Georgetown. In addition, the Council sponsored an annual invitational tournament at Tufts which drew teams from all over New England, New York and Pennsylvania. The Council is fortunate in having as its coach Mr. John H. Lewis Jr., former debating star at Princeton University, and presently a member of the Tufts Speech Department.

PRE-LEGAL SOCIETY

The Pre-Legal Society invited jurists, lawyers, and law school officials to discuss the study and practice of law, and the undergraduate preparation for this profession. In addition, a library of law school bulletins and other pertinent publications was instituted by the Society; and field trips to courts, law offices, and law schools were conducted. Specifically, the trips included attendance at the Boston College Pre-Legal Institute and a visit to an actual moot court trial which was conducted by several greater Boston law schools.

PRE-MEDICAL SOCIETY

The Pre-Medical Society was organized in 1936 for the purpose of furthering the interest of its members in the biological sciences and medicine, and aiding in attaining their respective goals. Meetings, held several times during the term, featured lectures, movies, and tours to hospitals and medical schools.

Subjects discussed this year were entrance to medical school, the medical school curriculum, psychopharmacology, radiation, design for survival in space, research as a career, and fortuity in science. Movies on the effects of smoking and on the useful purposes of radiation as well as on several operations were also incorporated in the program.

PRE-DENTAL SOCIETY

The Pre-Dental Society of Tufts University aids in bringing together those students considering dentistry as a career. The Society met regularly at least three evenings a semester in Barnum Museum. Guest speakers included prominent dentists who discussed various aspects of dental practice and dental education, and often supplemented their talks with films or slides. The Society also visited the Tufts University Dental School where the members observed the work of dental students.

ROCK AND DRUMLIN SOCIETY

The Rock and Drumlin Society is the geology society of Tufts University. The name is well-taken, since geologists are known as "Rockologists" or "Rockhounds" and "the Hill" is a Drumlin. The purpose of R&D is to promote interest in the earth sciences at Tufts. This was accomplished through a program of speakers and movies throughout the year, and a weekend field trip in the spring. While the membership is composed largely of geology majors, it is not limited. Anyone may be an amateur "Rockhound."

PHYSICS CLUB

The Physics Club was organized for the purpose of furthering interest and activity in physics. Outstanding lecturers from Tufts and nearby academic communities this year presented talks on such topics as negative absolute temperatures, ultrasonic reception of moths, radio astronomy, electronic computers, and the philosophy of physics. To supplement these lectures, trips to places of scientific interest were scheduled.

CHEMICAL SOCIETY

The Tufts Chemical Society is an organization designed to promote professional spirit and interest in chemistry. The first semester's meetings were geared almost entirely to the freshmen and sophomores. The topics presented were ones which would be of interest to those who have not been exposed to advanced concepts in chemistry. The second semester's emphasis was on subjects which held more interest for the upperclassmen. In general, the club offered a broad view of chemistry as it really is, through films, demonstrations, and speakers.

LEONARD CARMICHAEL SOCIETY

The Leonard Carmichael Society was organized two years ago for the purpose of co-ordinating volunteer work from Tufts throughout the Boston Area. Since then students have donated more than 5,000 hours to various hospitals, institutions, settlement houses, and short term projects.

The society has a large membership: anyone who is willing to devote a few of his spare hours as a volunteer is welcome to join. Only two or three general meetings were held during the year; a "smoker" in the fall acquainting new members with the work, and two business meetings at which the progress of different committees was discussed. The committee chairmen and officers met every two weeks, to discuss various facets of the society's work.

Richard Diamond; Steve Goldstein, Program Chairman; Tom Goodman; Tona Pietrillo, Pres.; Andre Janus; Douglas Maxwell; Anthony Ruggiero, Sec.-Treas.

FRENCH CLUB

The purpose of the French Club is to foster interest in the culture, history, literature, and arts of France and to provide an opportunity for students of French to gather and speak the language.

In the past, the club has had monthly meetings featuring speakers presenting timely subjects and, for the past two years, has put out a magazine, Le Cahier. The articles, all written by students, are in French, but they treat a variety of subjects, not necessarily French.

The year began and continued in a most promising manner with a great upsurge of enthusiasm and a greatly increased membership.

THE GERMAN TABLE

The German Language Table passed a milestone in 1959-60. Both students and faculty interested in cultivating spoken German have met around the luncheon table once each week over the past ten years. This year, a Jackson group met weekly in Hodgdon Hall and an additional Table was started in Carmichael especially for those with no experience in German conversation. An increasing number of students took advantage of this relaxed way of "keeping up" with the language.

Richard Carter, Treas.; Seena Abramsky, Sec.; John McDonald, Pres.; Barbara Brady, Vice-Pres.; Myron Allukian, Publicity Chairman.

PSYCHOLOGY CLUB

The purpose of the Psychology Club is to further interest and study in the science of psychology among the undergraduate students at Tufts. During the past year, the chief activities of the group were informal talks given by faculty members and guests. Highlighting this program were Associate Professor Alice Palubinskas, who discussed careers in Psychology, and Mrs. Bernard Harleston, who cited the challenges found in the field of social work.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB

The Tufts International Club was organized in 1955 to establish contact among the foreign students of all the undergraduate and graduate schools of Tufts University, as well as with foreign student organizations of other schools. The club helps orient newly arriving foreign students and promotes better social and intellectual co-operation between the foreign and American Tufts students.

This end was achieved at regular meetings, held once a month, where members were informed through slides or by lectures on life and the cultures in foreign countries.

Judy Mandaville, Sec.; Saw J. Benson, Vice-Pres.; Norma Garcia, Pres.; Margaret MacKenzie, Cor. Sec.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

The Tufts International Relations Club shifted from its African Studies Program of last year to a consideration of the problems of Latin America.

Under the able guidance of Dr. Robert Robbins and Prof. Betty Burch, the Club considered aspects of Latin American economic and social problems and the development of self-government in the colonial areas of Latin America.

The Club received guidance from members of the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, Miss Noreen Glover and Mr. Robert Herring who were invited to conduct discussion groups on "Dictatorship in Latin America" and "The Cuban Revolution."

The Luigi Club of East Hall is composed of some seventy members, all residents of the dormitory. Its main function is to unify the residents of East Hall and create a bond of friendship and compatibility through organized activities on campus. This year, it began the installation of its own recreation facilities in the basement of the dormitory. On a campus level, the club is the proud possessor of the Trophy of Trophies, symbolic of dormitory supremacy.

SPORTS CAR CLUB

The Tufts Sports Car Club was organized in 1955 to bring together students interested in sports car activities, the promotion of foreign car ownership, and skillful but sensible driving on the highways. The club is closely associated with the Sports Car Club of America and is a member of the Intercollegiate Sports Car Authority. Club President Bob Cunningham, assisted by Bradley Thompson, initiated two gymkhanas at Cousens parking lot. Off the hill, the group participated in several rallies at Harvard, a hill climbing event at Belmont, and an ice rally on Lake Winnepesaukee. The club boasted twenty active members and a variety of sports cars including M.G.'s, T.R.'s, and a 35 supercharged Auburn.

JACKSON ALL-AROUND CLUB

The Jackson All-Around Club is primarily a social organization to which all Jackson students belong. In order to promote a spirit of friendliness and unity among all Jackson students, the J.A.C. sponsored several major activities: the Student-Faculty Tea, the All-Jackson Formal, the Jackson Banquet, the Campus Chest Drive, and a Father-Daughter Weekend. Philanthropic work consisted of a clothing drive, held in the spring for the benefit of needy families in Poland and in the local area.

AMATEUR RADIO CLUB

The Tufts University Amateur Radio Society is a recently reorganized group designed to encourage and instruct those students interested in amateur radio operation, and to promote further interest in this field within the Tufts community. Those club members who hold an operator's license instruct the unlicensed members, and help them prepare for their qualifying examinations. The club radio station, W1KN, has made numerous contacts over the past two years, many with several foreign countries. The radio "shack," 40 West Hall, was renovated considerably during the past year, and many plans are on the books for further improvements in the future.

CHEERLEADERS

The cheerleaders are chosen each fall by the co-captains from approximately fifty men and women. Selection is based upon personal appearance, knowledge and performance of the cheers and personality. Weekly practice sessions put the cheerleaders into condition for the football season. Every cheerleader must play every minute of every quarter. There are no substitutes and injuries common to football players, twisted knees or ankles, are also found on the cheerleading squad after every game.

In sunshine or rain, mostly rain this year, the goal of leading the fans in their support of Tufts teams has been, and will continue to be achieved.

VARSITY CLUB

It is the goal of the Tufts Varsity Club to further both campus and outside interest in athletics at Tufts. All lettermen in varsity sports are members, and meetings of the club are frequently enhanced by the presence of guest speakers who are distinguished personalities of the sports world. The club managed the refreshment concessions at all dances and athletic events, and added to the enjoyment of the entire college community by running the Varsity Club Dance and the All Sports Banquet this year.

YACHT CLUB

The Tufts Yacht Club is primarily interested in promoting social sailing at the University. The Club is open both spring and fall afternoons, and on weekends is the scene of intercollegiate regattas. With an increase in the number of boats, the non-racing members of the club always find rigs available.

Ross Babcock; Bob Bruskin, Sec.; Fred Nichols, Commodore; Perry Gesell; Gunter Arndt, race committee.

TUFTS MOUNTAIN CLUB

The pursuits of the Tufts Mountain Club in the winter include mountain climbing, skiing, hiking, camping, and ice skating; and in the summer water skiing, canoeing, and swimming. For these activities one of the more frequently used facilities was the club lodge in Campton, New Hampshire, which offered a good time to as many as thirty-five members and is in the heart of New Hampshire's White Mountains.

Climbing Mt. Washington, Lafayette, and Katahdin, as well as skiing trips to Stowe, Cranmore, and Waterville Valley, are annual parts of the club's program. A fine opportunity is availed the student by the Tufts Mountain Club program to enjoy the beauties and recreational activities offered by northern New England.

MAR-SOC

The Marine Corps Social Club consists of the Marine Corps option students of the NROTC and any other students showing an interest in the Marine Corps.

The group met once a month with the advisor, Major Frederick S. Wood, USMC, of the NROTC unit. After short business meetings, members were entertained by guest speakers, or films which covered various fields of interest.

Throughout the school year MARSOC sponsored informal social events such as bowling parties and extra-curricular sports. The height of the social activities was the colorful military celebration of the Marine Corps anniversary presented before the midshipmen of the NROTC unit.

VERITABLE RAZOR BLADES

The Veritable Razor Blades, founded upon the basic concepts and the fundamental ethical principles of the universe, flashed into being from orbit. A group of students unearthed these metaphysical theorems during one of its frequent philosophical and meditative hours in the library lounge. From this original group, the membership was enlarged to include many other notable personages.

The cultural aspects of life have been stressed, so that frequent visitations have been made to Symphony Hall, Hayden Planetarium, Franklin Park Zoo, and Ferraras. This last institution featured the Chief singing his favorite aria, "Galway Bay," and the time-honored classic, "Any Ice Today, Lady." Latest cultural endeavors have included Teves Martin delivering his lecture proving the flatness of the earth, and Bruce Zimmerly discussing his famous best-selling autobiography, "From Orbit to Reality in Ten Easy Steps or One Giant Step."

CAMERA CLUB

An organization of about twenty-five amateur photographers, the Camera Club helps its members keep pace with developments in the general field of photography through special programs at meetings and through contact with others engaged in photographic work.

The Club solved the problem of processing on campus by maintaining a darkroom in the basement of West Hall, complete with enlargers, trays and dryers, and providing members with a supply system for paper and chemicals. Meetings featured talks or slide sequences, largely provided by manufacturers and aimed at improving knowledge and technique.

Occasionally, the organization held contests, in which case they often took the form of a club outing, with prizes for the best pictures arising from a given situation.

ELIOT-PEARSON LEGISLATIVE-JUDICIAL COMMITTEE

The Legislative Judicial Committee of the Eliot-Pearson School is composed of a Chairman, five student members, and two faculty members. Its main purpose and function is to consider and establish necessary rules and to enforce them. Infractions of these rules within the individual houses and of college policies are reported by each house president to the chairman of the Legislative Judicial, whereupon action is taken on the offense committed.

The Legislative Judicial is an active and strong functioning body within the Student Government Association of Eliot-Pearson. Its constitution is open to suggestion and revision by the entire student body if warranted.

ELIOT-PEARSON STUDENT COUNCIL

The Eliot-Pearson Student Council this year under the leadership of Judith Biller coordinated the social activities of the school and joint activities with other student organizations of the University. The Council also performed the very difficult task of making and enforcing rules governing the conduct of the student body.

ALPHA EPSILON PI

Perhaps the word success best characterizes this past year at AEPi. It stirs up those memories which we shall always carry with us. It tells a story.

We remember those parties such as the Roamin' Toga, the Sewer, the Oriental, the Rush Week blasts and the Spring Formal at Magnolia. We have fond memories of a Rush Week which yielded thirty top men—and their antics. We see visions of chickens—frightened; of house rumbles; neighbors; Chinatown; Maverick; Frankie; and Frank. We know who the champion guzzler is, and what the Celtics do at half-time. We recall the house newspaper, the Aepian Way, "Loveable's" column and Malkin's literary endeavors. We recollect: Stalag 17's overwhelming achievement—and the many nights we worked on into the morning; the homecoming elephant; parent's day; Bullet; the Triumvirate; Operation X.

There was the house with its new furniture, curtains, rugs, and tiling—and our pride. There were AEPi's on campus: holding down four major editorial posts on the Weekly, including the Editor-in-Chief, Marty Miller; Schnipper, North, Teres, Crystal as members of Sword and Shield; the Lambert-Kingsely presidency, the vice-presidencies of the Pre-Med and the Pre-Dent Societies, the presidency of Hillel, and two brothers in Who's Who.

Outstanding scholastically were two brothers in Tau Bete, three in the Society of Scholars, and the house as a whole first on campus, making it nine out of eleven years. Athletically, AEPi was represented on the soccer, lacrosse, baseball, and basketball teams. Intramurally, the house was second in the race for the Trophy of Trophies.

We remember all this. But more important, we remember a particular feeling that went with each and every achievement. Call it brotherhood if you will. In some way, it was a "we" feeling.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA

The Tau Hut has provided the stage for many diversified events this past year. Through the efforts of "The Rose," the house enjoyed a successful fall climaxed by the drawing for the much-sought-after case. It was rumored that the Taus were contemplating assaulting the Hill with their newly-acquired field cannon. Plans for the attack were formulated by the Admiral in the Ward room sanctuary.

Is it true that "Waltaak" is pondering buying an antique shop in which to store his "Wheelock Treasure"? Buzz and Digger are still the celestial duet in their nightly gazing attempts. "That's not a satellite, Buzz; it's McCall on the chimney."

"Butchie's Bombers" have established a football first with "Dwarfish Davey" snagging "Perk's" passes. Perk is more affable lately, since he and Gus made up. How's the Bears' head?

Murmurs escaping from the Tower have it that the Earle is surreptitiously planning to add green coloring to the Mafia's wine. Dante, beware! The Magical Mystic has acquired a new agent in Ben with his P.A. system. Hi, Guys! Myron is seeking grappling Graves' talent in the forthcoming season.

Setting a precedent as the only non-player carried from an Oval game, the Bear has certainly gained new recognition. Our blessings to Durgin Park!

Skimmers dominated the scene as the "Taus" reveled in a bit of the "Twenties" at Homecoming. They were properly initialed with "Alpha Theta Horseshoe" as the organization is more appropriately known in the inner social circle.

With the Bug in his new janitorial role, the glass casualties of the Ram Wars have been kept to the bare minimum. Speaking of Ram Wars, we're back on paper towels for the remainder of the week, fellas.

Is it really female voices that are heard in the Chapter room late Saturday evenings or is it the chatting spirits of the Endicott lovelies of past years?

Since the matriculation of "Big Bill" and "Lenny" into the organization, Kelley has gone into conference with McSweeney on possibly uncovering new means to escape Announcement Day. Dante has informed him that his waiters will hold, however, being the stalwart men they are.

White has finally relinquished the long distance phone concession he was holding. "Arizona calling, Bill!"

Many good times have ensued this past year and the Taus have successfully endeavored in several undertakings.

From the intramural football field to Student Council; from the Wrestling Team to the Ski Team; from the Tufts Chorus to the Yacht Club; from the Football Team to the Off-Hill Council, the Taus have been well represented. The house also was found of prominence in the hockey team, Newman Club, Tau Beta Pi, ASME, soccer team, and in several other organizations on campus.

SIGMA NU

Sigma Nu's are like the Renaissance gentlemen of the past—well rounded individuals. They, like the courtiers of the past, are accomplices in arms, well versed in music, civic minded, patrons of the arts and sciences, enthusiasts for sport, and above all—gentlemen.

Campus activities substantiate this, for example: representation in the Air Force and Navy R.O.T.C.'s; Chapel Choir; Tufts Choral Society; University Band; Committee of Proctors; I.D.C., I.F.C., Engineering Council; the 3 P's, Pre-Legal Society, Pre-Med Society, the Engineering Societies; Society of Scholars, Tau Beta Pi; track, swimming, wrestling, and soccer.

Well planned social affairs have added zest to the house's activities. On the foie gras level, we had our Christmas Formal at the Sheraton Plaza, Spring Weekend, and our "all college mixer" with Dick's suave band. On the peanutbutter and jelly level, the Yogi Bear—Huckleberry Hound Fan Club satisfied our appetites. Our more common diet consisted of Rock n' Roll Parties, Pat's debut at a beer party, Rush Week music teeming from the Nickelodeon and the Wurlitzer. Sudden hunger pangs brought on water fights with Sawyer House, an apple fight with the ATO's and "neighborly" visits from the bumbailiff.

The animals all come to the Ark at Spring Sing and the hold of that Ark is filled with memories of "open kitchen" with the midnight coffee crew, the Sigma Nu skin divers, and Earl's motorscooter in Sawyer House living room. These and countless other spectacles will never allow the Great White Serpent of Sigma Nu to fade from our memories.

ZETA PSI

The Kappa Chapter of Zeta Psi this year saw its 105th senior class graduate from Tufts University. The fraternity, established in 1855, is the oldest fraternity on the campus.

The Zetes are a diverse group of individuals, whose interests and achievements cover a wide range of fields, from athletic to academic. Fortunately it can be said that there is no one type of person who is a Zete, but rather that the entire brotherhood is a blended harmony of students who are at once different from one another, and yet close friends.

Zeta Psi started the 1959-1960 school year with a membership of 35 brothers. Among the first to return were John Marshall, and the six other members of the varsity football team. John is the seventh consecutive Zete to be Co-captain of the football team. Zetes were active in almost all other varsity sports, and Tom Bond, an outstanding end on the football squad, is also co-captain of the baseball and basketball teams. A well rounded fellow, Tom received the coveted Bennett Memorial Scholarship for excellence in academic and athletic endeavor this year.

Zetes may also be found in many other types of activities on campus, such as the honorary societies Sword and Shield, Ivy Society, and Tower Cross. Such organizations as WTCR, the Pre-Law Society and the Leonard Carmichael Society, to name a few, also list Zetes among their membership.

Zeta Psi, continually striving for higher scholastic achievement, lists among its membership several Dean's List students and members of the Society of Scholars.

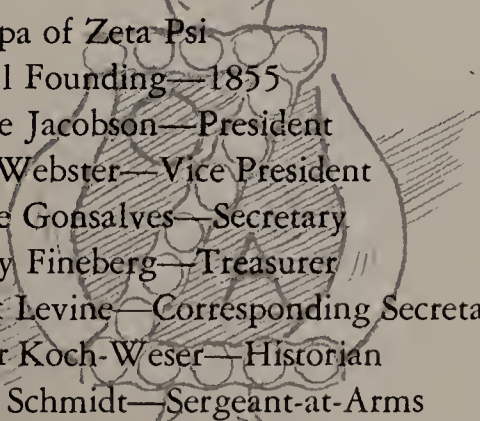

Zeta Psi looks ahead to the future confident that the spirit of friendship and tolerance which pervades its being will continue to do so in years to come, and that those brothers graduating this year will, through the understanding and cooperation they have learned at Tufts and Zeta Psi, meet with the same success as have other Zetes in the past.

INTER FRATERNITY COUNCIL

The Interfraternity Council is the governing body of the fraternities, controlling and regulating fraternity activities. The purpose of the Council is to promote unity, good fellowship, and high standards among fraternities, to provide for their general welfare, and also, to regulate matters of interfraternity competition.

An ambitious undertaking of the Council this year was the rewriting of its Constitution. This was done to clarify its organizational structure, define more clearly its policy and areas of authority, and to bring it up to date generally. Included in the last mentioned was the incorporation of the By-Laws into the constitution, something which had never been done in the past, and the formation of a committee to keep the Constitution and By-Laws up to date in the future.

The IFC Ball was held at the Sheraton Plaza Hotel in February and featured the music of Tony Bruno and his orchestra.

Seated: Susan Cross, Betty Ryan, Carolyn Chadbourne, Pres.; Fran Sluyter, Sec.-Treas.; Judy Davis. Standing: Susan Zwerling, Judy Genest, Marilyn Weddall, Elaine SanClemente.

"... Evening girls. Meeting will come to order, please. Secretary, tell us of our government last year."

"We rushed the freshmen—tea and conference, breakfast, parties in the rooms;

Danced in winter, played in spring, joined for our philanthropies;

Advice was sought—we'd take a vote and bring it back to sorority;

Rules re-hashed, some re-written.

Submitted most respectfully."

"What's for next year?"

"Same."

"And then some."

"A half new Council . . ."

"With half the old."

"And thanks for guiding, Miss Wynne-Roberts."

"Motions passed—UNANIMOUSLY."

Carolyn Chadbourne, President.

ALETHEA

Alethea's first class of pledges take over during our fourth year of being Aletheans. "Come sister follow, follow." Seven-thirty in the morning!! I'll never make it! Barbara, Linda, and Chris get married. Who's pinned? Congratulations! This is our once a month day, anyone for an auction. But we've asked Mrs. Burch for three years now. How about a makeup demonstration? The Homecoming tea brought back many old friends. Thanks to our patrons for the Sunday breakfast, Hodgdon was never like this. Alethea goes Russian for rushing. The pledges liven up the place. Ooo what beautiful paddles. Liz is smiling after the auctions, shoe shining, cake sales and candy selling she should be. Denny has another idea. Anyone for Marlboro boxes? We really are singing, "To Alethea, to Alethea." Thanks Claire. How many freshmen got their grades? Good, now for spring rushing and a new group of pledges. Is there any more spaghetti left? Where shall we have our pledge formal? Congratulations to our new officers and a well deserved thank you to Denny, Marty, and the other out-going officers. We end the year with our annual banquet at the Town Line House. Another year filled with memories of our good times, but most of all our good friends. Good luck to our graduates.

ALPHA OMICRON PI

A O Pi's start the year with a "kitchen shower" for the room. Barb R. comes back with a gold band, and Judy P. and Dotty with diamonds. It's another year with Theta Chi for brothers, and that means hostessing, joint dinners, and much fun. We hold our annual meeting with the alums, complete with slides of the convention in British Columbia, and movies of last year's Senior Breakfast. We've gone Hollywood, a la Marlboro Contest. Only 10,298 boxes, shall we try for two years in a row? For our open party, we're off to the circus; clowns, dancing midgets, a side show, and maybe Babette on horseback. Closed party, bids, then pledging. Who will vouch for this character? Welcome, class of '63. Suddenly it's Christmas, and much joy. With Theta Chi, we give an orphans party and then go caroling. Patrons and alums join in our celebration at the room, with Mr. Parkman as Santa again? January and finals are over; it's wedding bells for Lou and so long to Barb. B. and "Mrs. Marty." We'll miss you all. February comes and we help Theta Chi with rushing; can-can dancers, cigarette girls, and the gangs all here. Second semester also brings Pledge Walk, A-O-PI pajama parties and the Pledge Formal. No flowers, thank you, we prefer toys. Initiation Banquet is next; dogs, paddles, and wonderful new sisters. Maybe this year we'll have that Father-Daughter Dinner. Spring has flown, and it's time for Senior Breakfast again. Amid laughter and tears, we say a dozen farewells. Good luck to all, and come back again soon. It's been a great year in "The Land of A O Pi."

CHI OMEGA

Chi O's stand together. United during the summer by a chain letter (who had it last?), we rejoined in the fall with memories of having our own house for a week end (thanks to the Delts)—Chapeau Chi O and our banner flying, a new hifi record player-radio to remind us of those bleak mornings on Routes 2 and 128, and mighty proud of our two Mississippi sisters successively bearing the title of Miss America. What? More notes from Grandma's group? Selling apples at home football games was even more fun this year with our bright new wagon. What a great turnout for volleyball against the DU's! How about that Beatnik party with the Delts! Soon it was time for Iddy Biddy Buddies again, with a Halloween party winding up the week. Come on, all you bridge addicts, there's a bridge tournament this year. "La-dee-da Go Chi O" and "Annie Get Your Gun"—it's rush time again. We got a great new pledge class. No, it's a quartet—you're just seeing double. Anybody for the Kursall? We've got to get those averages up. Let's all go out for basketball—we won the trophy last year—to be discouraged never. Our new sisters were honored at a dinner-dance in town—What great favors! Spring Sing already? What will we do this time? Parents' Luncheon, as always, was a great success. And then Senior Night—it comes to soon, but what a wonderful 50th anniversary year it has been. Chi O's now departing, we'll remember you.

DELTA ZETA

This fourth anniversary year has been a good one for Delta Iota Chapter of Delta Zeta Sorority. Although we are a young organization on the Hill, we feel that we are achieving our goals of friendship, scholarship, and service. In memory of Isabel Stedman of the Class of 1961 we have established a Social Science Award to be given annually. In looking back we recall some highlights of the year: our becoming the sister sorority of Phi Sigma Kappa; our spaghetti supper and caroling with the Phi Sigs; the pledge formal held in early spring; and a picnic at Gloucester. In addition to the Big events of the Year we will always remember the everyday happenings which bind us truly into a sisterhood; our pledging and initiation ceremonies, hours of decorating our room and rehearsing skits for rush parties, work for our philanthropic projects, Monday night meetings, basketball and volleyball games, and the singing of Shadows as we walk home along the row.

THALIA

Thalia Sorority was founded in 1956 in order that its sisters could govern their sorority in a democratic and American way, under the tenet that all people are created equal. We were encouraged to strive for what we thought was right, provided with lasting friendships, and helped to become effective followers as well as leaders. We found a great sense of satisfaction in working for our school through pre-chapel coffees, raising money for the Student Union, and ushering for the theatre. Through our philanthropic activities each girl was able to satisfy her desire to help less fortunate people.

Could we ever forget that Thalia Pep? Or the selling of Daffodils on hill the first day of Spring, with hopes that it wouldn't snow; the excitement of seeing our Alumni at the Homecoming Tea and selling Chrysanthemums at the game; the hectic days before the rush parties when all our hidden talents are discovered; the beach parties and softball games with our Brothers, the A.T.O.'s; the spaghetti dinner; the speakers; the Pan-hell basketball and volleyball games; or the Senior Breakfasts. It is our hope that the Thalia Ideal will live forever.

1960

To the reader:

Now that you have reached the last page of this 1960 Jumbo Book undoubtedly an impression has been formed in your mind. The editors, of course, hope that impression is a favorable one, and that many of the changes which have been instituted have found a welcome reaction. Some will feel that a number of things should have been said that weren't or that much of what was said should have been left unsaid. Nevertheless, the die is cast and we will defend what we have done not because it is right but because we have done it.

We would like to thank Bob Greener and the entire staff at The Comet Press, Inc. for their many helpful suggestions and for supplying the necessary experience and knowledge to complement our enthusiasm.

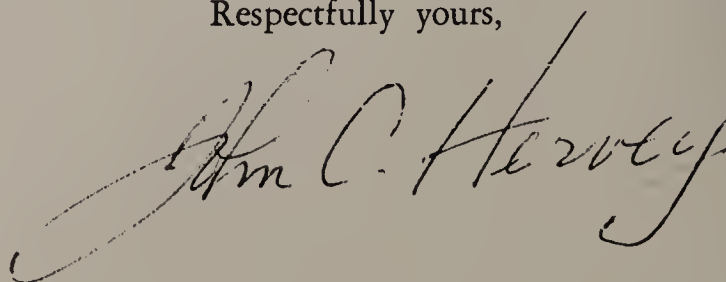

We would like also to express our appreciation for the fine work and cooperation of our official photographer, Norman Benrimo. It has indeed been an experience and a pleasure working with "Ben."

The task of the Editor-in-Chief was made immeasurably easier this year because of the exceptionally fine performance of the Managing Editor, Bob Jeffreys. He constantly kept all of us aware of our responsibilities.

The devotion to duty and willingness of all the editors, sometimes working under the most difficult of circumstances made everyone's task easier.

Finally, we thank the Class of 1960 for the opportunity of attempting to produce the finest Jumbo Book ever.

Respectfully yours,
